Apple Exports To Mexico Increase

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania apple industry is apparently going to see some benefit from the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), according to Brenda Briggs, program manager of the Pa. Apple Marketing Program, located in Harrisburg.

Briggs, who recently was hired to head the marketing program, has been busy recently working with the Mexican government and Pennsylvania processors to get certification by the Mexican government for shipping apples there. "Pennsylvania is among a number of other states working to be certified to export to Mexico," Briggs said in a Monday telephone interview.

She said the application paperwork has been approved, and that a Mexican official was inspecting a representative sample of Pennsylvania apple packing houses on Nov. 15 and Nov. 16.

"The stage we're at now is waiting on Mexico to present a work plan which will outline the criteria which packers have to meet in order to export to Mexico," she said.

After the work plan is received, packers will be in a position to decide whether to pursue certification to finalization.

The role of NAFTA in exporting apples to Mexico is apparently secondary to the recent increase of tens of millions of bushels of apples being shipped by the U.S. to Mexico.

The Mexican government has been opening up its borders to more apples from the United States for the past three years, Briggs said.

Fir Trees Foster 'Decoratability' Of Christmas Season

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
HARMONYVILLE (Chester Co.) — If you ask "cut-your-own" Christmas tree grower Gary Westlake his opinion about decorating Scotch Pine this holiday season, he would probably say the tree is old hat. The better trees are the firs.

"In the 1950s, that was the Christmas tree, Scotch Pine. My grandfather planted Scotch Pine. We're glad to see that most of our Scotch Pine has been sold and we're not growing many of them anymore," he said during a recent interview at his farm.

Why has Westlake Tree Farms gravitated away from the Scotch Pine? A combination of factors, according to Westlake, make the firs more desirable. Westlake, a Delaware Valley College graduate who put most of his life into growing trees, maintains more than 45,000 Christmas trees on about 180 acres (including 20 acres of rented ground) off of Rt. 23, near the quaint northern Chester County town of St. Peters.

The Scotch Pine was a favorite 40 years ago for the newly-began Christmas tree industry because the trees were easy to grow, they grew well on marginal and wet ground, and they could command a higher price. But Westlake said the industry has levitated away from the pines and more toward the firs because "they have less insect and disease problems, they decorate easier, and they hold up very well inside the house."

Westlake Tree Farms grows three variety of firs, including Douglas, Concolor (White fir), and Fraser. Fraser is a favorite because of its "decoratability," said West-

Bradford County DHIA Dinner Meetings Held

ANDREW BURNS
Bradford Co. Correspondent
NORTH ORWELL AND TROY (Bradford Co.) — Bradford County DHIA marked 80 years in operation recently with two meetings and awards banquets. To show how things have changed in those 80 years, average milk production in the DHIA's first year was 6,064 pounds, compared to 17,703 this year, down slightly from 1992. It was only 20 years ago that the 10,000-pound level was surpassed.

Although Bradford DHIA is a single association, two separate dinner meetings were held for the convenience of the 259 members, one in the eastern and one in the western sections of the county. Awards were given at both banquets.

The North Orwell Community

Hall, complete with Christmas decorations, was the setting for the eastern meeting on Wednesday, December 15. Dinner was prepared by the Community Hall trustees.

On the following evening, Thursday, the western dinner meeting was held at the Troy High School cafeteria. Dinner was prepared by the cafeteria staff.

William Hennip of Rome, county president, was the master

New York & Phila. Frozen Egg Report

Tuesday, December 21, 1993

Prices were edging higher under a cautious trade sentiment. A difference of opinion existed and both buyers and sellers were confused and unsure of what to do. Trading was spotty. Raw materials were currently adequate for further processors to maintain their reduced holiday schedules. Floor stocks were usually sufficient to cover dealers needs.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, December 22, 1993

Trucklot buying interest was fairly light for immediate delivery, fairly good for the start of next week. Boneless skinless breasts were irregularly distributed. Smaller volumes traded at 1.80 while larger volumes were offered at lower prices and slow to clear. Line run breasts were at least adequate but most buyers limited receipts to commitments only. Light volumes traded at lower trending prices and the undertone was unsettled. Dark meat items cleared fairly well at current prices. Whole wings were short of trade needs, prices trended higher, and the undertone was fully steady to firm.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Wednesday, December 22, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally fair to good in most quarters. Seller offerings were generally well balanced to closely cleared. Live supplies were moderate to light; weights were mostly desirable. Processing schedules were very heavy. Most plants are suspending operations on Friday, some Thursday also. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 50 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm. In the parts complex, wings were short. Leg items were in fairly good balance. Breast items were irregularly balanced; however, where extra supplies were available they were difficult to place.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.

Tuesday, December 21, 1993

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY GRAIN AND SOYBEAN PRICES FINISHED HIGHER, TUESDAY, SUPPORTED BY HIGHER THAN EXPECTED U.S. EXPORT SHIPMENTS LAST WEEK FOR ALL COMMODITIES, WINTERKILL CONCERNS FOR HARD RED WINTER WHEAT AREAS AND FIRMER BEAN OIL PRICES AND IMPROVED CRUSH MARGINS. WHEAT UNCHANGED TO 4 CENTS HIGHER. CORN UNCHANGED TO 1 CENT HIGHER. SORGHUM 1 CENT HIGHER. SOYBEANS 2 TO 4 CENTS HIGHER. BITTER COLD TEMPERATURES IN HARD RED WINTER WHEAT AREAS STIRRED CONCERNS ABOUT WINTERKILL DUE TO LACK OF SNOWCOVER FOR PROTECTION. STRENGTH FROM VERY GOOD EXPORT DEMAND LAST WEEK CARRIED OVER INTO EARLY WEEK PRICES. LAST WEEK'S CORN EXPORT SALES ALSO CONTINUE TO BE SUPPORTIVE TO PRICES. BEAN OIL PRICES ARE STRONGER TODAY AND IMPROVED CRUSH MARGINS PUSHED SOYBEAN PRICES UPWARD.

EXPORT NEWS: THE USDA ACCEPTED THREE BIDS TO SELL 30,000 TONNES HARD RED WINTER WHEAT AND 26,000 TONNES NORTHERN/DARK NORTHERN SPRING WHEAT TO SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA UNDER BFP FOR FEB/JUNE

National Egg Market

Tuesday, December 21, 1993

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged to higher for the large sizes in the Northeast, and the balance of prices were unchanged. The market tone was steady to firm. Demand continued to be seasonally good to excellent. Supplies were tight to instances adequate, and extra eggs were held with confidence, or offered at premium prices. Breaking stock supplies were adequate from regular commitments, and reduced schedules were planned this week. Live hen offerings were at least adequate for the light to moderate demand, and the trade sentiment was generally steady.

FIRST FOOTER

The first person to cross the threshold in the new year, the "first footer," will bring either good or bad luck into the house for the year. Although this custom is known in countries from Ireland to China, it is particularly well-observed in Scotland and parts of England. Generally a tall, dark male brings the best luck, but in some regions fair men (especially redheads) are preferred. Regardless of his looks, the visitor must never, ever arrive empty-handed. Traditional gifts are a piece of coal for the fire, a loaf of bread, and a glass of whiskey for the master of the house.

*Let us th' important now employ,
And live as those who never die.*

— Robert Burns, New Year's Day, 1790

TIP OF THE WEEK

Use steam to loosen dried-on food in the microwave: briefly boil a cup of water then wipe interior clean.

EARTHWISE

Since January 2 marks the 20th anniversary of the 55 mph highway speed limit, it's a good time to reflect on our crude oil consumption, both private and national. Although the "energy crisis" is considered to be over, in fact it will never be over since fossil fuels are nonrenewable. As we stand at the threshold of another new year, continuing our inexorable march to the next century, we must seriously consider our alternatives. We'll be looking at some of those in the next few weeks.

CHEESY NUT WAFERS

1 pound sharp cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
cayenne pepper to taste
1 cup finely chopped pecan pieces

Cream together cheese and butter. Add flour, salt, and pepper and mix well. Stir in nuts. Shape into a roll and refrigerate for 2 hours or more. Cut into 1/4-inch slices. Bake at 350° F for 8 to 10 minutes.

Makes 60 to 70 wafers.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be taxed every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:) To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning the child. All they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined.

For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

To Work Safely

Winter is a good time to service equipment to keep it in good running order.

When servicing, adjusting, or repairing tractors and machinery, always follow the recommendations in the operator's or service manuals.

When working on equipment, observe the following:

- Have the right tools for the job. Handle them properly to avoid skinned knuckles, strains, and pinched fingers.

- Wear well-fitting work clothes with no loose ends to catch in moving parts or snag on projections.

- Wear personal protective equipment such as safety shoes, gloves, etc., as needed to protect you from various hazards of the job.

- Provide plenty of ventilation in an indoor area, especially when using solvents, cleaning, painting, tuning up engines, etc.

- Make certain equipment is securely blocked when removing wheels. Never rely on hydraulics to hold up any component. Block solidly or use safety stands.

To Protect Hearing

Many farmers have something in common with many rock musicians: hearing loss.

Loud rock music averages about 115 decibels. Farm noise ranges between 90-140 decibels, well above the 85-decibel limit at which industrial employers must provide hearing protection for workers.

Consistent, repeated exposure to such volumes may damage your ears before you notice any change. If you must shout to be heard three feet away, the noise is too loud. You must either reduce the noise level or wear protection.

Even though surveys show farmers recognize the hazard of excessive noise, they rarely use hearing protection. Some farmers believe that it is inconvenient, unhandy, or too time-consuming.

Granted, it will take some getting used to, but the benefits far outweigh any inconvenience and the need for buying and wearing a hearing aid.

Noise protection comes in two basic forms — muffs that fit over the ear and plugs that fit inside the ear. Average devices reduce noise volume by about 25 decibels.

When choosing hearing protection, consider comfort and effectiveness. Muffs are comfortable for longer wearing times but are not effective when obstructed by glasses or hats. Plugs are less noticeable than muffs and are small enough to fit in a pocket.

Now is the time to protect your hearing, before it is too late.

To Look At Farm Profitability

There are many factors that affect farm profitability.

Every year we must examine these factors and identify those factors that are changing. Once those changing factors have been identified, we may start working on developing plans on how to deal with these changes.

Some factors to consider include the rate of return on assets. The rates in the 1990s are the lowest in more than 40 years. For the past 40 years, the range was 4.89 percent in the 1950s to 10.23 percent in the 1970s.

The 1980s had a return to assets of 8.15 percent while the 1990s have only 1.4 percent. However, 17 percent of the farms in the United States will earn more than 10 percent return on assets.

The key to profits are cost control and low overhead. Two areas to look at are debt load and family living expenses. Fifty percent of American farms are debt-free. The average American farm has a $2.50 of debt for every dollar of net farm income.

Debt to net farm income is strong, up to 5 to 1. This ratio is deadly when it goes beyond 10 to 1. Average family living cost on farms is $36,000 to $40,000. This is the fourth or fifth largest expense in agriculture.

On many farms, this is the fastest increasing cost on the farm. Successful business people are able to make objective evaluations and take the necessary steps to maintain profitability.

As we approach the end of another year, now is the time to take a hard look at your farm business and look for ways to control costs and lower overhead.

THE BENEFITS OF TEMPTATION
December 26, 1993

Background Scripture:

Luke 3:21,22; 4:1-15

Devotional Reading:

Matthew 4:1-11

In The Screwtape Letters, C. S. Lewis says, "There is a silly idea about that good people don't know what temptation means." He's right, for many of us assume that temptation is the snare of only those who are weak. It came as a shock to me to learn that some of the "good people" I knew were sorely tempted and sometimes succumbed.

But Twain is quite correct: this is "a silly idea," because we all ought to know better. In the gospels we find a time when Jesus himself was sorely tempted. Perhaps the problem is that, although we know that, we assume his temptation was not real—real like ours. But Luke uses the word "tempted" meaning that Jesus had to feel the pull of it; there had to be the possibility that he would give in to it. That makes his temptations just as real as ours.

One of our misunderstandings the belief that the temptation itself is the sin. If we think about doing something wrong, we do not sin until we do it. Someone has said that we can't keep the birds from flying over our heads, but we can keep them from building nests in our hair. You and I—and Jesus, too—cannot keep the tempting thoughts from our minds, but we can keep them from being translated from thought into action. So often we exhaust ourselves spiritually, feeling guilty, not in succumbing to temptation, but in being tempted. There is no shame in being tempted, only in giving in to it.

STONES INTO BREAD

Also, we often assume that temptation is always evil in appearance. To be sure, there is a definite attraction to "forbidden fruit," but more often the most dangerous temptations are the ones, like those of Jesus, that appear so compellingly reasonable. For example, the first was to use the power of God for material needs: "Command this stone to become bread." What's the harm in doing that? Why not use that power to turn stones to bread and feed the people? Surely that would bring them into the fold! Even in our own day, just think of all the starving people we could feed if we could turn stones into bread.

And the second temptation is no less reasonable: the kingdoms of the world in exchange for worshipping the tempter. Once again, Jesus, consider all the good you could do throughout the world with this kind of power! Does it matter whom we worship so long as we get the job done?

SQUEEZED BENEFITS

The third temptation is possibly the most compelling: if you are really the Son of God, throw yourself down from this pinnacle and prove that you are God's Son. But in this one, as in the previous two, Jesus is able to resist because he keeps his attention, not on the temptation, but upon the relationship with God. The more we stare at the temptation, the more quickly we forget God. The more we focus on God, the less compelling the temptation.

Actually, there are some benefits to squeeze from the experience. Just as Jesus came through his temptation spiritually stronger and more confirmed in his mission, so resisting temptation makes us stronger and gives us a sense of satisfaction. One experience of resisting gives us a base for defense against future snares.

But we must realize, when we have resisted, we have won a battle, not the war. Someone has said that most people who fly from temptation usually leave a forwarding address. "And when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from him until an opportune time". Even in Jesus' life, the tempter would return. Celebrate your victories over temptation and be ready for the next occasion.

Maryland 4-H Livestock Judges Complete Season

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Placing consistently high in most categories during four regional and national contests, Randy Mullinix, 16, of Lisbon (Howard County) helped lead Maryland's 4-H livestock judging team this fall to one of its best seasons in recent memory.

The team was first in the overall standings among five state 4-H teams on Sept. 18 at "The Big E - New England's Great State Fair" in West Springfield, Mass.

One week later, the team placed first in the overall standings among 11 state 4-H and FFA teams participating in the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium, Md. It was second among 10 state 4-H and FFA teams in junior livestock judging competition on Oct. 2 during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition at Harrisburg.

Finally, Maryland placed seventh in a field of 35 state teams during the National 4-H Livestock Judging Contest, held Nov. 16 at Louisville, Ky., in conjunction with the North American International Livestock Exposition.

Young Mullinix capped off the season by placing among the top 30 participants in all four categories at the national contest. There were 140 individual contestants.

Mullinix placed fifth in sheep judging at Louisville, 29th in swine judging, 13th in beef cattle judging, 18th in reasons, and seventh in the overall individual standings.

His sheep judging score was two points out of first place and nine points better than that of Jacob Schaad, who captured overall individual honors.

Based on a perfect score of 50, Mullinix had an average score of 46 for all of the contest categories, while Schaad had an average score of 47.

Monica Feeser, 17, of Taneytown (Carroll County) finished among the top one third in all four categories at the national contest. She placed twelfth in sheep judging, 30th in swine judging, 42nd in beef cattle judging, 27th in reasons, and 20th in the overall individual standings.

Jason Murray, 16, of Glenelg (Howard County) led the Maryland 4-H contingent in swine judging at Louisville, finishing 27th. He was consistently strong in this category at all of the fall judging contests.

Robert O. Dinsmore, 18, of Broad Run (Frederick County) was 35th in beef cattle judging and 23rd in the reasons category at Louisville.

Less than a week earlier, Dinsmore had been honored at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo., as winner of the National FFA Sheep Production Proficiency Award. He owns a flock of purebred Hampshire and Shropshire breeding ewes. During nine years of 4-H and FFA market lamb competition at the Maryland State Fair, he exhibited four grand champions and four reserve champions.

All of the other members of this year's Maryland 4-H livestock judging team also have been involved with sheep projects.

Randy Mullinix and Monica Feeser have exhibited market lambs in 4-H and FFA competition at the Maryland State Fair, while Jason Murray has been involved with Montadale and Romney purebreds.

Coaching the Maryland 4-H livestock judging team again this year was William A. Curry of Shepherds Glen (Howard County), an extension livestock specialist for the University of Maryland at College Park.

Curry has been the Maryland 4-H livestock judging coach for more than 20 years. His assistant this year was Karen E. Holloway of Darlington (Harford County), a former 4-H member of a Curry-coached team.

PA Jersey Youth Award, Scholarship Contests Announced

The Pennsylvania Junior Jersey Cattle Club is now accepting applications for several awards and scholarships available to Pennsylvania Jersey juniors. The awards include recognition for outstanding production records, scrapbooks, and other achievements. The recipients will be announced at the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club Annual Meeting, held on April 8 and 9, 1994, in Bedford.

The PJCC is seeking entries for Achievement Awards in two divisions. Interested applicants must be the owner of one or more registered Jersey cattle and be between the ages of 9 and 19, as of January 1, 1993. Awards will be given in two age categories: Junior Division, 9 to 13 years of age; and Senior Division, 14 to 19 years of age. Entry forms are available from the Youth Program Coordinator, Betsy Dupuis, 58 Beacon Drive, Harrisburg, PA

In both age divisions, five finalists will be selected. These finalists will be interviewed to determine the 1994 Achievement Award winners. The Senior Division winner will be entered in the National Jersey Youth Achievement Contest, so any interviews for this age division must occur in early February, 1994. Interviews for the Junior Division finalists will be held just prior to the PJCC Annual Meeting in April, 1994.

Juniors can also enter the Youth Production Contest. Interested junior Jersey owners can nominate their registered Jerseys on official DHI or DHIA test for these awards. Members must submit an official individual cow record which bears an issue date from 1/1/93 to 12/31/93. This form is required to give contest officials a 305 2x mature equivalent value for the records submitted. All submitted records will be judged on their ME pounds of protein. Contestants are only allowed to enter one record per year. Top production records will be forwarded to the National Jersey Youth Production Contest.

The PJCC also selects outstanding scrapbook award winners in two age divisions, 9 to 14 years of age, and 15 to 19 years of age. The scrapbooks are to pertain to the contestant's Jersey project(s) during the 1993 calendar year. All scrapbooks will be evaluated on both the quality and quantity of their contents along with the artistic skill and creativeness shown in their development.

Jersey juniors in their first year of showing are eligible for the First Year Project Award. This contest is open to active Jersey members of an organized 4-H club, who are 8 to 12 years of age. Contestants are required to submit their official Project Record Book along with a handwritten story entitled, "Highlights of My First Jersey Project Year."

Finally, two scholarships, each for $200, are available to Jersey youth attending a college or who are high school students planning to enroll in a college program within one year of high school graduation. Applicants must have been actively involved with Jersey cattle for at least two years. Entry forms are available from the Youth Coordinator.

All award applications and entries are due into the Youth Coordinator, Betsy Dupuis, by January 20, 1994. Further information about the awards is available by calling Dupuis at (717) 787-6903, daytime, or (717) 540-1687, evenings.

In the rush of events, we tend to overlook the important friendships that are the true basis of business relationships. One of the great pleasures of the Holiday Season is the opportunity to exchange greetings with those whose friendship and goodwill are valued so highly.

In this spirit it is a pleasure to say "Thank You" and extend sincere appreciation for the very pleasant association enjoyed with you.

May a bright and prosperous New Year bring happiness to you and to yours.

Strategies Can Prevent Herbicide-Resistant Weeds

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — By taking some precautions, you can keep resistant weeds from sabotaging your herbicide program, according to a Penn State weed scientist.

"Weed resistance has been a problem with several classes of herbicides," said Dr. William Curran, assistant professor of weed science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "In the northeastern United States, triazine resistance is by far the most serious of these."

Since the 1960s, more than 50 species of weeds throughout the world have developed biotypes that are resistant to different herbicide families. The Northeast has at least four weed species that require additional time or resources to manage because they're triazine-resistant.

Herbicide-resistance has been caused by monoculture cropping patterns such as growing continuous corn; using herbicides that persist in soil; using less tillage and thus reducing nonchemical weed-control options; and spreading resistant weed seeds along with cattle manure.

"When choosing an herbicide program, base your decision mainly on anticipated weed problems and potential herbicide resistance," said Curran. "Also consider crop and herbicide rotations, potential herbicide injury to crops, your tillage system, your herbicide application equipment, soil characteristics, potential environmental hazards and cost."

Crop management strategies that can help deter herbicide resistant weeds include:

- Use herbicides only when necessary.

- Rotate herbicides with different sites of action in weeds, such as amino acids, enzymes or proteins. Do not make more than two consecutive applications of herbicides with the same site of action to the same field unless you include other weed-control practices. Two consecutive applications means single annual applications for two years or two split applications in one year.

- Apply herbicides in tank-mixed, prepackaged or sequential mixtures that include multiple sites of action. The herbicides must be effective against potentially resistant weeds for this strategy to work.

- Rotate crops, particularly those with different life cycles, such as winter wheat, barley and other winter annuals; alfalfa and other perennials; and corn, soybeans and other summer annuals. Do not use herbicides with the same site of action against the same weed in these different crops unless other effective control practices are also included.

- When growing new herbicide-resistant crop varieties, do not use more than two consecutive applications of herbicides with the same site of action against the same weed unless other weed control practices are included.

- When feasible, combine herbicide use with mechanical weed control.

- Where there is little potential for soil erosion, include primary tillage as a component of your weed management program.

- Scout fields regularly and identify the weeds present. Respond quickly to changes in weed populations to restrict the spread of weeds that may have developed resistance.

- Clean tillage and harvest equipment before moving it from fields infested with resistant weeds.

- Encourage local organizations such as railroads, public utility companies and highway departments to use vegetation management systems that do not lead to selection of resistant weeds. If these organizations use total vegetation control (TVC), resistant weeds from TVC areas can spread to cropland.

For more information on weed control and herbicides, consult the "1993-94 Penn State Agronomy Guide," available for $6 from the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county or from the Publications Distribution Center, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802, (814) 865-6713.

of ceremonies for both events. Jasper Smith of Canton, treasurer, also gave his report.

John Wilcox, DHIA state director, gave an update on state affairs as they affect the county groups.

Diane McIlwain, regional manager, gave demonstrations of the new laptop computers which are now in use by the local technicians.

William Houseknecht

Jacob Guffey, Bradford County extension director, said something new is coming to Bradford. A satellite dish has been installed at the extension office and will be used for teleconferences and workshops. This will allow local workshops to receive programs from Penn State and to directly interact with the faculty there. The first scheduled workshop is in February on dairy nutrition. Those interested should contact the extension office.

Amy Van Blarcom, Bradford County dairy princess, addressed the western group. She discussed the talk she usually gives to non-farm people and, with humor, she related the way these people view the farming community.

Gary Braun

In the awards, top honors went to Rob and Donna Van Blarcom of Columbia Crossroads. Their Holstein herd was number one in both milk and protein, 28,752 and 886 pounds respectively. They were also first in Pennsylvania in the milk category.

The Holstein herd at the Scot Lyn Dairy in Rome was first in butterfat (750 pounds), and second in milk, (25,563 pounds).

In the herd management awards, Rob and Donna Van Blarcom topped the list again with 138 points. In second place was the Holstein herd of Pat and Pam Salerno of Sayre with 117 points. The Holstein herd of Randy and Lisa Walker of Wyalusing was third with 107 points.

Top place for low somatic cell count went to Clyde and Greg Seeley of Canton with their Holstein herd.

Scot Crook

Other current county DHIA officers are Gary Green of Warren Center, vice president, and William Davis of Troy, secretary.

The executive committee is comprised of William Hennip, Gary Green, and Robert Brown of Rome, a director.

Poly Square Means Healthier Calves

Big Foot 5'x7'6"

The Poly Square Big Foot is constructed of opaque material to eliminate the solar effect. It blocks out sunheat-not sunlight. Poly Square's inverted ribs and 5' (W)x7'6"(L) make it the biggest unit on the market today and extremely wind resistant. It has no pop rivets which means no breaks or cracks for snow and rain to sift in. The unit weighs 100 pounds plus manger & buckets. And Poly Square Big Foot is large enough so your calf can lay in the center, away from cold walls in the winter.

New Side Hay Feeder - Made especially for Poly Square Big Foot, no other unit has this feature. Also has a center roof vent for better air movement.

MILK CHECK

THOMAS JURCHAK
Dairy Specialist
Lackawanna County

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — With cheese and powder prices holding their own to the middle of November, and no sign of increasing milk production, the Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series took a more than expected 29-cent increase to $12.75 for November.

That makes a total increase of $1.58 in three months; 16 cents better than the $12.59 high of last year and 91 cents better than last November. In fact, it's the highest M-W price in 34 months going all the way back to January 1990.

However, it's really the second high for this year as predicted here in September. It was up to $12.52 in May then fell to $11.17 in August before starting up again with declining milk production. That's an unusual pattern but just one more indication of the uncertainty of market trends this year and on into next year.

While the M-W has peaked and will start down next month, how fast and how far it falls will depend on the milk production trends ahead.

The M-W is expected to fall next month because cheese prices started dropping the last two weeks of November. They held steady for 11 weeks from September 3 to November 24 then dropped nearly three cents in two weeks. Such a small drop is unusual for this time of the year when cheese prices usually start falling much earlier and much faster.

Last year they dropped 16 cents from September 4 to December 4 and this year it was only one cent. Last year the total drop before starting up again was 20 cents and this year to December 10 block cheese prices had fallen less than three cents.

There will be further drops to come but hopefully not the 20 cents of last year.

Non fat dry milk prices are also going lower and with adequate storage stocks of powder and cheese activity in the export market may be

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Donald C. Bergey of Millville has been elected to his first three-year term as a director of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative.

Bergey, who joined Atlantic in 1977, is to represent the cooperative's members in District 19, which covers Columbia, Montour and Northumberland counties and surrounding counties. He replaces Jason R. Hertzler of Milton, who served on the board for 13 years.

Bergey and his wife, Patricia, farm more than 400 acres and milk 70 Holstein cows. They have two children, Christa, 16, and Gregory, 13.

Active in a number of farm organizations, Bergey is a director of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and is a member of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau. He was secretary/treasurer of a local farm cooperative and has served as secretary/treasurer of Atlantic's District 19. He also served on Atlantic's Hauling Committee for four years.

Bergey is a member of Community Mennonite Fellowship Church, where he is administrative director. He also serves as chairman of the church's building committee.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents more than 3,500 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

the only hope to slow down product price declines into the spring months.

Production Also

Going down also, however, is milk production nationally. That dropped again in October with Wisconsin and Minnesota leading the way with cuts of 7- and 4-percent. With that two-state area accounting for more than 20 percent of the national production they have a serious impact on the total milk supply. In addition, of course, that's where the class prices in Federal Orders start and that's what is feeding increases into your farm price.

Milk Checks

With the increases in the M-W since September you've seen increases from 90 cents to $1 in the prices on your milk check. With the M-W going up again in November these will continue into the new year and look pretty good. In fact, the price for November milk on your check will be 30 to 60 cents higher than a year ago depending on which Federal Order regulates your handler.

You will be getting more increases in the farm price for December and January milk. That in itself is an indication of what an unusual marketing condition you have. I can't remember (or find) a time when the January price was higher than the previous December. And I can't think of a better way to start the new year than having a price higher than any month the last three years.

Just what you need to pay for the Christmas presents. Happy holiday.

Donald Bergey is new ADC director.

From Beef To Buffalo At Falklands

BY LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent
SCHELLSBURG (Bedford Co.)—When the William Darrow family (including Richard, Scott, and Allen) of Juniata County first heard there were 1,400 acres of land for sale at $1,000 an acre, they didn't believe it.

"We said, what's wrong with it?" said Richard Darrow, who operates the former Falkland Farm.

Owned by former steel baron, Leon Falk, who left it to his widow, Lottie, the farm includes eight houses, seven barns, two swimming pools, and two tennis courts.

"It was a bargain we couldn't pass up," said Richard. "And it was a perfect place for our buffalo."

The Darrows, Angus farmers, began raising buffalo about five years ago. "We've actually tried all kinds of farming," Richard said, "For awhile we tried hogs, then the Angus and now, it's buffalo."

"Actually, it was dad who always wanted to try buffalo. He talked about it a lot. Then, one evening, he made an announcement, 'Get the barn ready boys, we've got buffalo coming tomorrow.'"

Darrows have a herd of 41 buffalo with 19 located at the Schellsburg Farm.

"Buffalo are easy to raise," said Richard. "They don't require much shelter. We provide it, but they don't use it. They actually love cold weather."

"They calve the same as a cow, once a year with a nine-month gestation period, and they calve very easily."

"And, despite their size, they aren't hard to keep in the pasture. Keep their tummies full and they're happy campers."

Richard provides plenty of grazing land, grass hay, and feeds low protein steer food. "They don't need it so much as they like it. It's a good way to get minerals into them because they will destroy mineral feeders."

Darrow keeps one bull for every seven or eight cows. "To date, there is no artificial breeding. I'm looking for it in the near future. For now, it's all natural."

The Darrow buffalo are sold as breeding stock, but there are meat markets in Juniata and Susquehanna counties. They also use the meat for their own use and find it to be quite satisfactory.

"It's sweeter than beef and much, much leaner," said Richard. I've been experimenting with cooking. It requires very little cooking time. You can't let it get overdone, or it will dry out. We prefer our roasts to be slightly pink."

Despite their large size, a dressed buffalo does not weigh much more than an average steer. "The head and the hide are where the weight is," Richard said.

He finds the hides to be amazingly thick — so thick, in fact, it is difficult to find the skin beneath. "No wonder the Indians wore them to keep warm!" he said.

Even in a modern market there are various uses for all parts of a buffalo. Artists are attracted to the head and shoulder blades as a place to display their art work. The ribs are used for knives.

"The main problem right now is getting the meat USDA approved," Richard said. "There are two places in the East that can give the inspections, but I would like to know if there are any others."

Darrows' animals have all been tested and, this year, should become the 5th accredited herd of buffalo in Pennsylvania.

"We are very lucky to have two vets in the area who are willing to work on our buffalo," Richard said. "They aren't looking for the work, but they are willing to vaccinate and help us out when we have a problem. Buffalo are susceptible to the same diseases as any other type of bovine."

The Darrows are members of the Pennsylvania Bison Association, which sponsored the third annual buffalo show and sale at Mercer last summer. "I doubt if they will ever show buffalo at fairs the way they do steers," Darrow said.

"They are wild animals and safety would have to be a concern. At the present shows, the animals are shown only in their stalls. I would suspect it will continue to be this way."

In addition to the buffalo, the Darrows have a herd of 51 Black Angus and 10 mixed breeds on the Falkland farmland.

"We had to look at all the houses to decide which one we wanted," Richard said. "We finally decided on the second largest. The main house was just too big."

Richard's family includes his wife, Ann, and three children ranging in ages from one to seven years.

The buffalo have created a major attraction as they graze in the fields along Route 30. "We don't mind people stopping to look," Richard said. "But we do wish they would pull off the road, and remember we use a high-voltage electric fence around the fields."

Richard Darrow perches on the fence as the buffalo come in to feed.

WHERE IS YOUR HERD HEADING?

As a herd manager, you need to be looking to the future to see where your herd is heading and to hunt for things you can change to keep your herd moving in the right direction. Your DHIA records can help you do this.

Future Calving Intervals

Days to first service, percent of heats that are observed, percent of services that are successful, and the number of failed pregnancies (abortions, etc.) are some of the things that affect days open and projected calving intervals.

If you are aiming for a 12.5-month calving interval, days open need to be about 98 (12.5 months is 380 days, and 380 days - 282 days gestation = 98 days open).

If your volunteer waiting period (VWP) to breed cows is 60 days after calving, the best average days to first service that can be achieved is about 70 days.

Table 1. Heat Detection, Conception Rates and Calving Intervals

	Examples	Yours
a. Calving interval - in months	12.5	_____
b. Calving interval - in days (a. x 30.4 days / mo.)	380	_____
c. Gestation period	282	_____
d. Days open (b. - c.)	98	_____
e. Volunteer waiting period (VWP)	60	_____
f. Average days to 1st. heat after VWP	10	_____
g. Days to 1st. service (e. + f.)	70	_____
Additional opportunities to conceive:
h. Days (d. - g.)	28	_____
i. Heat intervals (h. divided by 21 days)	1.3	_____
j. Add the 1st. heat after VWP	1.0	_____
k. Total opportunities to conceive (i. + j.)	2.3	_____
l. Success rate needed (j. divided by k. x 100)	43	_____
Actual Results Compared to Goals:
m. % heats observed (reported as a decimal)	.66	.50
n. % services successful (reported as a decimal)	.65	.40
o. Overall success rate (m. x n. x 100)	43	20
p. No. of heat intervals needed (100 divided by o.)	2.3	5.0
q. No. of days needed (p. x 21 days) - 10	38	95
r. Volunteer waiting period	60	60
s. Projected days open (q. + r.)	98	155
t. Gestation period (c.)	282	282
u. Future calving interval - Days (s. + t.)	380	437
v. - Months (u. divided by 30.4 days per mo.)	12.5	14.4

Table 2: Replacement Costs per Cow per Year and per Cwt of Milk

Condition of cow or reason sold	Poor Flesh	Good Flesh	Dairy
Total cost of a replacement	1200	1200	1200
Sale price of cow removed	300	600	1000
Net cost of replacement	900	600	200
Cost per cow per year:
33% turnover rate	300	200	67
25% turnover rate	225	150	50
20% turnover rate	180	120	40
Cost per cwt. milk:
33% turnover rate	1.67	1.11	0.37
25% turnover rate	1.25	0.83	0.28
20% turnover rate	1.00	0.67	0.22

Some of the cows will come in heat on day 61 and others not until day 81, with the average being about 70 days.

Seventy days to first breeding is only 28 days less than the 98 days available for getting cows settled, that is, if we want a 12.5 month calving interval and a 60-day VWP. That means you only have 1.3 additional opportunities to get cows settled if the first service was unsuccessful (28 days divided by a 21-day heat interval = 1.3).

That doesn't leave much room for missed heats and for repeat services. In fact, as Table 1 indicates (line 1), you will need an overall success rate of 43 percent.

That may not sound high until you realize what is involved. This can be obtained if 66 percent of all potential heats are detected and if 65 percent of the services to these heats are successful (0.66 times 0.65 = 0.43).

If your heat detection rate is 50 percent, and percent successful services is 40 percent, the overall success rate is only 20 percent (0.50 x 0.40 = 20).

That's terrible! That means you will need five heat periods, or 105 days after the 60-day VWP, to get most of the cows settled (100 percent divided by 20 percent = 5).

Days open will be about 155

(105 + 60-day VWP - half of a heat period of 10 days = 155). Add to this a 282-day gestation period, and you have a projected calving interval of about 437 days, or 14.4 months.

Will your percent heats detected and your percent services successful let you reach the calving interval you are shooting for? What kind of success rates must you achieve to get the calving interval you desire?

Table 1 can help you answer these important questions. You can find the percent heats detected and the percent successful services on your DHIA Herd Summary report.

Check your records and determine if your breeding program is on the right track. If not, consult your veterinarian and nutrition advisor for assistance before the problem gets out of hand.

Long calving intervals and breeding problems can be costly for a number of reasons: 1.) cows spend too many days in the tail-end, low-profit section of their lactation, 2.) calving periods can slide into the hot days of summer when cows have more calving problems and when they don't peak nor conceive as well, 3.) cows that were

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — More than 417,000 FFA members will promote FFA, agricultural education, and the food and fiber industry during National FFA Week, Feb. 19-26.

FFA members in 7,545 chapters across the U.S. as well as Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will be organizing events and activities to foster awareness of agricultural education and support for FFA.

This year's theme, "FFA — Leadership for America," will be seen through communities nationwide through promotional efforts of local members. FFA activities and agriculture classes emphasize leadership skills, analytical thinking and the application of both to the industry of agriculture.

Larry Case, national FFA advisor, said today's young people are aware of their responsibilities as agricultural leaders for tomorrow. "Our members realize the world in which we live is growing larger and more interdependent," he said. "These young people will be leading the effort to provide food and fiber for a growing popula-once base-builders are now producing excess milk, which is worth less, 4.) fewer calves are born, 5.) cell counts may increase with longer lactations, 6.) cows may gain excess flesh and have more metabolic problems, and 7.) problem breeders have reduced sale value.

Replacement Costs per Cwt of Milk

A lot of profits can be eaten up by replacement costs.

Herd replacement costs are determined by the average net cost per replacement times the number needed per year. The net cost of a tion, as well as to keep America competitive in the global marketplace."

National FFA Week is held each year during the week of George Washington's birthday to recognize his leadership and commitment to American agriculture. Both the National FFA Center and the National FFA Hall of Achievement are located on part of Washington's original Mount Vernon estate near Alexandria, Va.

replacement is the total cash and non-cash costs of raising a heifer, or the cost of purchasing a replacement minus the sale value of the cow she replaces.

The sale value of the cow removed has a big impact on net replacement costs, and can vary considerably, depending on whether or not she is a worthless "downer," a cow in good flesh, or a cow that has increased market value because of her production and genetic merits.

Let's look at the impact this can have on annual replacement cost per cow per year and per cwt. of milk in a herd that ships 1,800 pounds of milk per cow per year.

It makes a big difference as to why cows are sold, how much they are sold for, and how often cows must be replaced.

Another cost related to problem cows is veterinary and medical expenses. Replacement costs per cow per year and per cwt. of milk shipped can get high as Table 2 indicates!

Your DHIA records can give you a clue as to how well you are doing and where you are heading.

On your DHIA Herd Summary report, look at the percent of cows that left the herd the past 12 months, and the reasons why they left.

Is the turnover rate too high? Were you able to voluntarily select the cows you wanted to sell for dairy prices or to cull so you can upgrade the herd? — or did herd problems dictate which cows had to be removed, and were some of these your better cows that you were counting on to upgrade the herd, but instead had to sell for depressed prices? — not a very profitable situation to be caught in! If you have these problems, get help soon and attempt to reverse these costly trends.

What percent of your herd is first-calf heifers? If it is high because the problems discussed earlier, or for some other reason, your herd is younger and won't be as productive or as profitable as a more-mature herd.

However, if the herd is being expanded, or if you are merchandising a lot of breeding stock, having more first-calf heifers in the herd can be profitable.

You also need to make room for some well-bred, genetically-superior heifers to upgrade the herd on a regular basis.

ADC Announces Fall Winners

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Marci Anderson, Ontario County Dairy Princess, and her court, Katie Strub, Amanda Wadsworth, and Nancy Anderson, achieved the greatest number of cheese promotions during October and November with a total of 76 accomplished.

As winner of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council's (ADADC) fall cheese contest, Marci and her court won $150 for the county's dairy promotion program.

Dairy princesses from New York state and Pennsylvania were encouraged to enter the contest as part of the "Cheese Sandwich Shoppe" promotional activities conducted by ADADC.

Dairy promoters were required to record public service announcements at local radio stations, write news articles featuring cheese, and conduct cheese samplings in local supermarkets and malls.

Verification of all their promotional efforts had to be submitted to ADADC by Dec. 15 to qualify for the contest.

Throughout ADADC's marketing region, local dairy promotion groups reach consumers with a positive milk message by presenting educational programs in schools, nursing homes, and to civic organizations. They also conduct special events at county fairs, malls, dairy festivals and banks.

More than 1,000 volunteers across the region, help extend ADADC's dairy promotional efforts. Last year, at no cost to dairy farmers, over $136,000 in advertising equivalent was garnered through newspaper articles written by dairy princesses.

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. is a dairy promotion organization that supports dairy princess programs in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Two Elected To Eastern Board

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The board of directors of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperatives has two new faces, including the first woman to serve on the board in well over two decades.

The new directors are — Larry Allen, who operates a 725-acre farm with his wife, Agnes, and sons in Chelsea, Vt.; and Gerry Mesick, who runs an 800-acre dairy farm with her husband, George, and sons in South Scho-dack, N.Y. The farm also serves as a buffalo ranch.

Allen says he is a strong advocate of the cooperative way of doing business. He has been an Eastern member since 1960. Wife Agnes is secretary-treasurer of the Eastern's East Central Local. They both have attended Eastern's annual meeting every year since 1980.

"Cooperatives are a great way to go," he said. "They're the only ones to represent you in Washington."

On that issue, he said, "independents get a free ride," and despite criticism some non-cooperative farmers may have for co-ops, "they're willing to accept the good things co-ops do."

As a director serving more than 150 farms in District 4, which covers mostly the eastern half of Vermont, he said he has one agenda — "to do the best I can for our producers."

Allen, an Eastern delegate for 12 years, has been dairying since 1946, the year he graduated from high school.

"My dad died, and my mother kept the farm going with hired help until I could take over," he said.

The farm has been in the Allen family for 200 years. The current homestead was built in 1917. Allenville Farm is located in Orange County, about 30 miles south of Montpelier.

With help from sons Ronald and Rory, Allen milks 65 Holstein cows, attaining a herd average in excess of 20,000 pounds per cow and producing more than 1.2 million pounds a year. They also have 65 young stock.

A 600-acre woodlot leaves them 125 acres for tillage and open pasture. They grow mostly corn and hay. Until this year, the family ran an apple cider press, doing custom pressing.

The Allens have two other sons, Richard and Robin. They also have two married daughters, Susan and Laura, who "occasionally come in to help milk. They're glad to pinch-hit when I'm gone," Allen said.

Allen has been active off the farm in both agricultural and community organizations. For example, he spent 27 years on the Chelsea School Board, including 15 as chairman. She also has served on the Town Zoning Board, the Town Planning Commission, the Farm Bureau, the Orange County FFA Committee, and the ASC (Agricultural Stabilization Conservation) Committee.

Gerry Mesick not only has the distinction of being the only woman on the board, but also of being a dairy farmer who markets buffalo meat.

She also has the distinction of being able to switch roles with her husband, George, whom she succeeds on the board. George Mesick served nine years, the maximum allowed before the bylaws were changed at the recent annual meeting.

As a director, Mesick represents some 230 farms in District 2, which stretches from the St. Lawrence River, across the Mohawk Valley and into Massachusetts.

"I think it's good that there is a woman on the board, although it wasn't a campaign issue," she said.

"I don't think I'm coming in cold. I kept abreast of everything while George was in office. I'm ready to go."

Mesick also said she felt strongly that "cooperatives need to work together." She said she was "upset that farmers can't agree — I believe we've got to learn to."

Gem Farms, located in the southern end of Rensselaer County, is a four-way partnership with her husband and sons (David and James). It boasts a milking herd of 190 cows, plus 210 head of young stock and bred heifers.

Gem Farms Buffalo is a two-way partnership with her husband. It boasts a herd of 100 buffalo and a Trading Post, from which they sell buffalo meat and related items and souvenirs.

"We had to make our own market," she said, noting that not many consumers are aware that buffalo meat is available. "It's an educational process."

Mesick graduated from Ithaca High School, and went on to earn a B.S. at Cornell University. She had lived several years in Rensselaer County, where she first met her future husband. George joined her at Cornell after serving in World War II.

After graduating in 1949, Gerry worked for Cooperative Extension for a year in both Schenectady County and Rensselaer County. After marrying George, she continued working part-time for awhile before devoting all her time to farm and family.

George was a partner with his father until he and Gerry took over the farm in 1960. They have since gone into partnership with their sons. The couple also has three daughters.

Other organizations she has been involved in include the Farm Bureau, the National Buffalo Association and the American Bison Association.

Allen and Mesick are to serve three-year terms.

Headquartered in Syracuse, NY, Eastern Milk Producers has 3,200 member farms in nine states, with the majority concentrated in Pennsylvania, New York and Vermont.

Body Condition Scoring Summarization Available

Summarization of your cattle's body condition scoring is now available through PaDHIA at no additional charge.

Simply give your DHIA technician a list of cows that have been scored and the resulting scores. The technician will enter these using his lap-top computer.

He will, however, not do the actual body condition scoring.

If you want to know more about body condition scoring talk to your veterinarian, feed salesperson, dairy consultant, or contact your county extension office and ask for extension circular 363 "Body-Condition Scoring as a Tool for Dairy Herd Management," or call Dixie Burris, membership development manager (1-800-DHI-TEST).

Body condition scores are to be reported in decimal form (1.0 through 5.9). If you are accustomed to the '+' and '-' system of scoring, use the following conversion table to convert from the '+/-' form to the decimal form.

+/- Form	Decimal Form
1+	1.3
2-	1.7
2	2.0
2+	2.3
3-	2.7
3	3.0
3+	3.3
4-	3.7
4	4.0
4+	4.3
5-	4.7
5+	5.3

Body Condition Scoring is a method of evaluating fatness or thinness in cows according to a 5 point scale. Research has shown that body condition influences productivity, reproduction, health, and longevity.

If done on a regular basis, body condition scoring can be used to troubleshoot problems and improve the health and productivity of your dairy herd.

When reviewing information concerning body condition scoring on the Herd Summary II report, be aware that only cows with scores entered that month will be summarized.

For that reason there is a column immediately preceding the Average Score column that shows the number of animals scored. You are encouraged to score all cows every month; however, if you do not score all of your cows, this column will reflect it.

To make Herd Summary II's summary of body condition scores contained in the "Profile of Cows by Group Number" more meaningful, you might want to consider grouping your cows by stage of lactation regardless of whether they are physically housed in separate groups.

Target body condition scores by stage of lactation:

(Adapted from extension circular 363 "Body-Condition Scoring as a Tool for Dairy Herd Management")

Stage of Lactation	Recommended Score		Red Flags
	+/- form	decimal form
Cows at Calving	3+ to 4-	3.3 to 3.7	Scores below 3+ (3.3) Indicate cows did not receive adequate energy during late lactation and/or dry period. Scores above 4- (3.7) Indicate cows received excessive amounts of energy during late lactation and/or dry period.
Early Lactation	3- to 3	2.7 to 3.0	Scores below 3- (2.7) High producing cows may drop to 2+ (2.3) and are not a problem. Lower producing thin cows are not receiving adequate energy. Cows in good condition (3 to 3+; 3.0 to 3.3), but not producing as expected may be receiving inadequate amounts of protein, minerals, or water.
Mid Lactation	3	3.0	Scores below 3 (3.0) Cows are not receiving adequate energy. Check early lactation ration, because problem may have started there. Scores above 3+ (3.3) Cows are receiving excessive amounts of energy, reduce energy intake to avoid overconditioning.
Late Lactation	3	3.0
At Dry Off Time	3+ to 4-	3.3 to 3.7	Scores below 3+ (3.3) Cows are not receiving adequate energy. Check early and mid lactation rations to be sure cows are receiving adequate energy, because the problem may have started there. Scores above 4- (3.7) Cows are receiving excessive amounts of energy, reduce energy intake to avoid additional overconditioning.
Dry	3+ to 4-	3.3 to 3.7	Scores below 3+ (3.3) Cows are not receiving adequate energy. Increase energy content of the dry cow ration; however, the real problem may be a lack of energy in the ration of late lactation cows. Scores above 4- (3.7) Cows are receiving excessive amounts of energy, reduce energy intake to avoid additional overconditioning while maintaining adequate levels of protein, vitamins, and minerals. Reduce energy content of late lactation cows, because the problem may have started there.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

lake. "They look more like the trees of yesteryear, the kind you harvested out of the woods with Grandpa. They have less insect and disease problems and they're just an all-around nicer tree."

Also, Westlake said he believed the Douglas and Fraser firs are nearly "neck-and-neck" for "keepability," meaning they can withstand the punishment a cut tree goes through from when it is harvested until it is brought home and decorated.

Westlake said that those who harvest trees should remember you are taking a tree that's been in the field under conditions at night where the temperature ranges from 25 degrees to 35 degrees Fahrenheit and you bring it into your 70-degree Fahrenheit house "and you ask this thing to stand there and look pretty and don't drop its needles for four, five, or six weeks of the year. That's a lot to ask from a tree."

But the Frasers have the keepability growers desire, because even when it "turns dead as a doornail and brown as can be, 95 percent of the needles will still stay on the tree." Homeowners have less worry about needles lying about as a result.

Westlake Tree Farms also grows a limited number of White Pine and Blue and Norway Spruce trees.

How trees are accepted by consumers and how well they hold up inside the house are factors driving decisions growers make when they plant. Westlake said he has worked with the firs long enough to pick the soil and slope conditions necessary to generate a good stand.

Westlake answers the questions people ask about the season, particularly when they wonder, if the Christmas tree season is only one month long, what does he do the remaining 11 months of the year? There is a lot of work to be done all year long, he tells them. Mostly, it involves post-season management (cutting up returned trees after the season), then planting, mowing (all rows get mowed on a regular basis), fertilizing, spraying, and, throughout the summer, hand shearing.

Westlake employs three full-time people year-round, including two field workers and one mechanic. During Christmastime, the business employs 25 part-time people, mostly high school and college students to help with wreath-making, garland-making, cutting, and other chores.

The summer months are filled with hand-shearing all the trees, until the season kicks in, which starts in October, as the farm gears up for another busy season.

The cut-your-own business is particularly busy right after Thanksgiving, when horse- and tractor-drawn wagons begin to take people near the fields to harvest trees. But there is more to this event than just cutting trees.

"This is really an event," said Westlake. "This is not just going to (your local convenience store) and buying a jug of milk. This is a whole family-planned event, whole neighborhoods get together, or several homes on the same street get together to come out. Christmas would not be complete without coming and cutting their own Christmas tree."

Westlake said the afternoon-long event is notable because the farm provides more than just the attraction of a visit to a farm and a Christmas tree. They also feature craft shows, quartets, and other events.

About half the tree farm customers are from the Philadelphia suburbs, and the rest from Chester and surrounding counties. The business was built mostly by word-of-mouth, according to Westlake.

E. B. Westlake, Jr. purchased the land to operate the tree farm in

(Turn to Page A29)

A combination of factors, according to Westlake, make fir trees more desirable as a cut tree during the holiday season. Gary Westlake, a Delaware Valley College graduate who put most of his life into growing trees, stands in a field of Douglas firs. The farm maintains more than 45,000 Christmas trees on about 180 acres (including 20 acres of rented ground) off of Rt. 23, near the quaint northern Chester County town of St. Peters. Photo by Andy Andrews.

Children from the Westmont Christian Academy in Pottstown took a ride to see the Christmas Trees at Westlake Tree Farms a few weeks before the holiday began.

An old hay barn, built in the late 1700s and reconstructed at the turn of the century, was remodeled into a retail outlet in 1991. Gary Westlake stands in the outlet, which has about 4,000 square feet of space for ornaments and other items for the holiday season.

During Christmastime, the business employs 25 part-time people, mostly high school and college students to help with wreath-making, garland-making, cutting, and other chores. Here, Liz Lynch feeds greens into a garland-making machine.

Pa. Ayrshire Association Has Good Year

BENJAMIN HILLYARD
Pa. Ayrshire Association
Coordinator

MILLERSBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Ayrshire Association had a super good year and members are looking toward a bright future in 1994.

In reviewing the past year, there were many things of interest and many successes, but there were also some outstanding highlights.

On April 2 and April 3, the organization held its Pa. Ayrshire Spring Calf and Heifer Sale in Bradford County at the Williamston Inn, in Towanda.

The event is the kick-off for the Ayrshire breeders, after a long, cold winter. Although there were high waters, and a chance of a flood, the event was a great success.

At this time each year (spring), a new Ayrshire princess is traditionally crowned. Nicki Bozliniski, the 1992 princess, crowned Samantha Hillyard as the 1993 princess. The alternate honors went to Kelly Young. Also, this year marked the first time the group selected an Ayrshire maid. Elizabeth Seman was named.

Additionally during the spring event, the Pa. Ayrshire Breeders Association Hall of Fame nomination went to Dr. Ezra Deubler, in honor of his many contributions to the Ayrshire breed.

There was also a spring show, and the Stewart family and the Maulfair family left with the top honors.

Another highlight of 1993 was the national Ayrshire convention, held in Moline, Ill. There were many Pennsylvania Ayrshire breeders in attendance. A very nice comment was made about the Pennsylvania people: "When we are in need of help, we can always count on Pennsylvania to be right there!"

Two Pennsylvania Junior Ayrshire members were honored in the national scrapbook competition. They were Seth Wolfgang and Elizabeth Seman.

Moving on to the next event of the year was the association's field day, held at Plum Bottom Farm, in Belleville. John Rodgers and family served as host for the fun-filled event.

I'm sure one young man will always remember that day. It was the day that he became the proud owner of his first Ayrshire calf, thanks to the generosity of the Rodgers family, and to his own knowledge in judging cattle. Ronnie Croft was the first place winner and the prize was a new born calf.

In September, the Ayrshire Elite Sale and Daughter Display was held at the All American Dairy Show, in Harrisburg. This was a tremendous success.

We had exceptional daughters on display from four top Pennsylvania Ayrshire bulls. This gave many the opportunity to view the strong points of each bull. There was excellent uniformity in the groups that were there.

This display was all made possible by the support of Taurus, the All American Dairy Show and the Ayrshire Association, through me, the promotion coordinator.

Along with the daughter display was the Elite Sale. A super group of cattle were offered at this sale. All with very strong backgrounds and deep pedigrees. Many with winning records already.

The top selling cow, consigned by Samuel Diehl, went on to stand second in the All American Show the next day.

Let's not forget the tremendous amount of work that goes into getting ready for this type of sale.

Another thing that has gone on all throughout the year, and new to the Ayrshire breed, were visits from me, the Pa. Ayrshire coordinator.

These visits have allowed you, the Ayrshire breeder to ask about things you may not have understood, and to get a better understanding about the many programs offered to the Ayrshire breeder.

Westlake said the afternoon-long event is notable because the farm provides more than just the attraction of a visit to a farm and a Christmas tree. They also feature craft shows, quartets, and other events, including an electric train display on the bottom floor of the retail outlet.

New Jersey Farm Bureau Calls For Dairy Summit

TRENTON, N.J. — The New Jersey Farm Bureau is calling for all members of the New Jersey dairy industry to meet to review the industry's situation and outlook, and to attempt to build some general consensus about what can be done to ensure its survival.

According to a letter sent early this month to all dairy producers in New Jersey, there are to be two meetings held in January — one in the northern region of the state, the other in the south — to "fashion an agenda which all New Jersey dairy farmers can agree upon and can prepare the industry for the 21st century."

The first meeting is to be held Jan. 4 in the northern region of the state at the Tranquility Church, in Tranquility, N.J.

The second meeting is to be held Jan. 6 at the Elmer Grange hall, in Pole Tavern.

The meetings are to run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and lunch is to be provided.

"The dairy industry in New Jersey has experienced significant stress in recent years," according to the letter from Dave Kanach, NJFB Dairy Committee chairman.

"Falling milk prices and increasing costs for inputs, the decreased availability of local services, and the uncertainty of future environmental and milk quality regulations have all combined to make the future direction unclear.

"Furthermore, changes in the New Jersey Department of Agriculture and at the Rutgers Cooperative Extension Service all indicate that new direction is essential at this time, if the New Jersey dairy industry is to continue to be viable in the future."

According to Kanach, the decision to hold a summit was made at a recent convention of the New Jersey Farm Bureau. He also stated in the letter, "It is being sponsored by Rutgers Cooperative Extension, the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey Milk Industry Association, and the New Jersey Farm Bureau."

By NJFB's account, "Conditions for dairy producers in New Jersey are creating considerable unrest at the present time.

"During 1993, some 44 dairy men in the state left the dairy business, according to the USDA milk market administrators," states the NJFB in wording presented during its convention.

"There continues to be a chronic milk surplus, placing downward pressure on prices. The FDA approval of BST threatens to cause a drop in Class sales of milk of up to 5 percent nationwide, according to consumer surveys conducted by milk processors. This will depend upon the intensity of negative publicity in the marketplace by those who will oppose the use of BST.

"Any further decline in Class I sales from an adverse consumer reaction to BST would be in addition to a 3 percent drop in sales during the past year in Federal Order 2," according to the statement.

Statistically supported, dairy farming is a significant part of New Jersey agriculture. According to data provided by the Farm Bureau, dairy farms use 116,000 acres with Warren and Salme counties each claiming 95 dairy farms within their municipal boundaries.

Further, there are 80 farms in Sussex County, 48 in Hunterdon, and 22 in Burlington County.

On average, each farm occupies 345 acres and milks 74 cows. The value of milk products from the farms from 1991 to 1992 was $49.5 million. Estimates have put the total annual economic value of the dairy production industry at $500 to $600 million.

By its own proposal, NJFB "should make the stabilization of the New Jersey dairy industry a priority issue. Emphasis should be placed on improved management skills, better understanding of the business, and more efficiencies in herd management.

"Better coordination between dairymen and milk processors could help farm income, possibly leading to a reduction or elimination of milk hauling fees.

"Farm Bureau could help by seeking state action cutting the cost of electricity and farm building taxes."

A tentative schedule of events for the dairy summit meetings includes a series of 10 to 15-minute presentations from representatives of the Farm Bureau; Rutgers; N.J. Department of Agriculture's Division of Dairy Industry; milk processors; promotion council; and Farm Credit.

At the end of the presentations, a half hour may be used for audience comments, or questions of the representatives.

Lunch may include remarks by Clyde Rutherford, of DairyLea Cooperative Inc., and Ken Olsen, of AFBF, on the national overview of the dairy industry.

The afternoon is to take a different approach with three, concurrent, break-out sessions scheduled. Each is to last for an hour and a half.

Topics covered include the services of Rutgers Cooperative Extension; issues of concern to processors, DDI, cooperatives and promotion agencies; and credit issues, management, and cost of production.

For more information, contact Charles Miller, dairy and livestock associate with the NJFB, at (609) 393-7163.

October Eggs Down

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania egg production totaled 474 million during October, down 1 percent from the October 1992 production, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS).

There were an average of 20.9 million layers in the commonwealth during the month, down 1 percent from October 1992. Average production per 100 layers was 2,267 eggs, compared with 2,271 eggs during the previous October. Egg-type chicks hatched totaled 3.78 million in October, 4 percent less than the 3.96 million one year ago.

Cumulative egg-type hatch for 1993 is 37.1 million, up 1 percent from the 36.9 million hatched during the same period last year. There were 9.9 million broiler-type chicks hatched last month, down 6 percent from October 1992.

Cumulative broiler-type hatch for 1992, at 105.3 million chicks, was 2 percent less than the 107.2 million hatched January through October 1992.

Egg production in the United States totaled 6.15 billion during October, up 2 percent from the 6.01 billion produced the previous year. The total number of layers during the month averaged 285 million, up 2 percent from the 279 million on hand during October 1992.

October egg-type chicks hatched totaled 32.2 million, up 1 percent from last year. Broiler-type hatch, at 580 million chicks, was up 6 percent from October 1992. A total of 21 million turkey poults were placed during the month, 4 percent less than October 1992.

EQUIPMENT SPEC SHEET

New Spin On Popular Spreader

The L2020GT fertilizer and lime spreader offers updated technology and reliability.

THE New Leader L2020 Generation Two (L2020GT) fertilizer and lime spreader, introduced by Highway Equipment Co., Cedar Rapids, IA, is designed to inhibit corrosion, reduce bridging, and improve spread patterns compared to the previous L2020. Suggestions from applicators throughout the country were used to maintain the qualities of the L2020 and create the L2020GT's updated technology and reliability. This has resulted in a spinner spreader with advanced belt tracking, an advanced paint system, a field-proven Synco-Matic Mark III ground speed system, and easy maintenance and adjustments.

Application rates now can be changed and monitored right from the cab with the new generation Synco-Matic Mark III ground speed system. The system still has all the accuracy and dependability found in all

New Leader ground speed systems.

The 7- and 10-gauge carbon steel hopper is fully welded, caulked, and painted with an advanced corrosion resistant paint system to provide for longer, more reliable service. The hopper body is 96 inches wide to increase payload and make hopper loading easier.

Low Maintenance

The stainless steel self-cleaning "turnkleen" idler pulley ensures belt tracking during spreading. The L2020GT has a new drive shaft design and no bearing hardware for the conveyor, which makes it easy to service the spreader and allows for belt adjustments within seconds. The new conveyor system is made to last because it has a low-maintenance, corrosion-free 3-ply straight belt conveyor which rides on a stainless steel bottom.

A Closer Look

- ◆ Ability to spread up to 50 pounds of fertilizer or 4 tons of lime per acre;
- ◆ Complete range of conveyor needs, including sturdy bar flight chain and rugged belt-over-chain;
- ◆ Entire body is constructed of 304 and 409 stainless steel;
- ◆ Mounts on vehicles with highway, semi or full flotation tires;
- ◆ Available in body lengths of 10 to 16 feet.

A 24-inch wide dual spinner package allows for 100% overlap patterns and up to 65-foot effective swath width. A stainless steel flow divider with a new inverted "V" design reduces product bridging by allowing product to flow precisely and continuously to the spinners. The stainless steel indicator is easy to read and provides repeatable indexing of the divider settings. The 98% efficient 6-to-1 reduction spur gear drive will last the life of the spreader.

User-friendly

Dave Engel, general manager, Waitt Companies, Cicero, IN, says the L2020GT is user- and dealer-friendly because of features like the stainless steel which lasts longer than mild steel. A uniform body that fits every style truck replaces the need for a separate body on each style. Also, 6-inch side extensions now are standard, not optional. In addition, Engel says the adjustment bearings are mounted to last longer and allow for easy service. FC

Apple Exports To Mexico Increase, NAFTA To Add

According to a November newsletter from the International Apple Institute (IAI), based in McLean, W.Va., "After Mexico ended apple import quotas in 1991, U.S. apple sales to Mexico increased from $6.2 million in 1990-91, to $50 million in 1992-93.

"U.S. apple exports are anticipated to total $75 million this year without NAFTA. Mexico is the second largest export market for U.S. apples. The apple industry expects the Mexican market to expand tremendously as a result of passage of NAFTA.

The newsletter quotes IAI President Ellen Terpstra as having said, "NAFTA will enhance U.S. apple export opportunities tremendously. Already, this country's number two export destination, Mexico's implementation of NAFTA ... should spur export growth to $96- to $150 million in the near term."

According to Terpstra, the NAFTA agreement includes the phase-out of Mexico's current 20 percent tariff, and "other measures to facilitate trade."

According to the statistics provided by AIA, all U.S. apple export markets have been growing. The principal three receiving countries are Mexico, Taiwan, and Canada.

Briggs said, "NAFTA will hopefully speed up the process of getting states like Pennsylvania approved for exporting apples."

She said NAFTA is also beneficial, because it provides a process for challenging "non-scientific-based impediments and improve non-transportation impediments" to the exportation of U.S. apples to Mexico.

The additional benefit to Pennsylvania producers and packers, may be an increased opportunity to take a larger share of the in-state, or domestic, market.

During the past decade, Pennsylvania producers have suffered production losses because of late frosts and drought. But because the nation's major apple producers, especially those in the Northwest, produce heavily and market here, local producers couldn't receive any increase in price due to normal, local economy supply and demand controls.

The implication is that, at least until production grows to exceed demand, Northwest producers will be less likely to dump surplus apples in Pennsylvania at reduced prices if they have a stronger, better paying southern market for their current excess supply.

According to the IAI, the overall benefit of NAFTA to the U.S. apple industry also includes the elimination of various tariffs on apple products, and forming an advisory committee to help settle private business disputes.

Empire Livestock To Operate Auction

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — In January, Empire Livestock Marketing Cooperative will begin operating the Owego livestock facility located on Route 38. This new market will allow Empire Livestock to better serve the needs of livestock farmers in the southern tier of New York and the northern tier of Pennsylvania.

Under Empire Livestock's management, the facility will operate on a Monday and Thursday schedule, offering a direct marketing program for slaughter dairy and beef cattle. In addition, Empire Livestock will direct market slaughter calves to packers and grower calves to veal producers for a stated monthly price.

Empire Livestock's Direct Marketing Program provides an opportunity for farmers to market specific, conditioned animals directly to the meat packer, feed lot, or grower calf facility. This program can provide a financial benefit to farmers. Empire Livestock has a vast marketing network, reaching as far west as Michigan, to provide outlets for direct-marketed animals.

Empire Livestock encourages area farmers who prefer an auction setting to take advantage of Empire Livestock's Bath, N.Y., and Dryden, N.Y., facilities. For more information about the changes at the Owego market or about any of Empire Livestock's services, contact the cooperative at (800) 462-8802.

Pa. Junior Holstein Announces Contest Deadlines

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association has announced several projects, programs and deadlines this week.

According to news releases, the Junior Holstein Association is selling Holstein clothing as a promotional effort and fund raising project.

The items are all manufactured by major name-brand companies, such as Russell Athletic Wear, and Hartwell shirts. The clothing features Pennsylvania Holstein wording and the ideal Holstein cow picture.

"These items make excellent Christmas gifts," according to the news release. "Why not order yours today and help our Junior Holstein members?"

In addition, the association has announced four contest deadlines for Jan. 1, leaving little time to get submissions entered.

The contests affected include its achievement scholarship, of which three $1,000 educational grants are to be awarded; the Pennsylvania Junior Progressive Breeder Award contest; the 30,000 pounds cow award; and the Breeder of an Excellent Award.

Ayrshire Association Announces Registration Special

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — The Ayrshire Breeders Association made two announcements recently involving new staff and a reduced, limited-time registration fee.

According to news releases made this week, effective immediately, all Ayrshire animals aged more than 24 months can be registered for $21 through the Ayrshire Breeders' Association main office in Brattleboro, Vt.

Those who apply and meet the criteria for the awards are to be recognized at the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Convention Awards Program, set for Feb. 13 at the Ramada Inn, in Gettysburg.

All application forms, and more information, are available through the Pennsylvania Holstein Association. Telephone (814) 234-0364.

"We wanted to provide our members with a way to catch up on any animals that are over 24 months and not yet registered," said Ayrshire President Art Gaddis. "Only by registering animals can the Ayrshire breed continue to improve itself."

Ayrshire board members approved the price — which is the same as would be charged for an animal aged 8 to 12 months — at their November board meeting in Louisville, Ky., according to the

The achievement scholarship is based on involvement in dairy work, accomplishments, need and future plans for involvement in the agricultural industry.

The progressive breeder award recognizes those junior members how have bred registered Holsteins that meet production and type standards above breed average.

The 30,000-pound production award is self-explanatory, except that the production must be accomplished by a junior-member bred cow within a 305-day lactation.

The breeder of an Excellent award, of course goes to any junior Holstein member who has bred a cow that scores Excellent and applies.

news release.

In other news, the association announced it has hired Rob Schrull as general manager, and Jill Stahl as program coordinator.

According to the news release, as general manager, Schrull is to be responsible for the overall operations of the office. He is also to serve as executive secretary, treasurer and clerk.

Stahl's duties as program coordinator are to primarily be "coordination of information from the Ayrshire Office to the membership," according to the release.

She was previously managing director of the international market department at Holstein Association of America. She is to also serve as advisor to the Ayrshire Board of Directors on international opportunities and strategies.

Pain, apprehension, injuries, and damage are all descriptors that are commonly used when Emu/Rhea breeders talk about vet care, moving birds from pen to pen, or just normal health care such as worming or sexing.

A breeder designed a crate that allows one person to safely work on and/or transport Emus or Rheas. The E/R crate is constructed of cattle panel material with a steel floor that is powder coated. The non-slip floor makes the crate very safe for the birds and is easy to clean and disinfect for the owner.

There are grates in the front and back for easy entry and quick release. A two-position handle on the front of the cart can be easily installed to move cart like a wheelbarrow. The handle also helps to balance the crate if being moved manually. There is also a hitch connected to the bottom of the frame for small tractors.

The E/R cart can also be used for moving calves.

The dimension of the E/R crate: 3 1/4 feet tall by 4 feet long by 2 feet wide. Orders will be shipped UPS with directions for assembly. A limited supply of the E/R crate will be available soon.

Southeast Pa. Grazing Conference To Be Held

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — A Southeast Pennsylvania Grazing Conference is scheduled to be held 8 a.m., Jan. 26, at Harvest Drive Restaurant in Inter-course, sponsored by the Lancaster County Grazers and supported by the local Penn State University Extension office.

The slate of speakers includes a variety of well-known, or long practicing and successful authorities on grazing from around the United States.

Arden Landis, a Christiana dairyman who is a member of the Lancaster County Grazers, said the organization decided to sponsor the conference because of the regional interest and increasing practice of grazing, in order to help dairymen get a better understanding of the overall process and get information that should help fine-tune an operation for better herd health considerations, efficiency and profit.

Landis said the cost of the conference should easily, and quickly be regained through the use of some knowledge picked up at the conference.

The conference is to run until 4 p.m., and the cost of the conference includes a family-style dinner and time to visit with exhibitors.

The cost of the conference is $30 each prior to Jan. 26. There is limited seating and registrations are to be accepted on a first-come basis.

Should there be any additional seats on Jan. 26, those who walk in will be able to participate for $40 per person, meal included.

The speakers include Roger Wentling, a well-known grazing consultant who has been working with farmers since the 1980s, who is to give an introduction to grazing including a discussion on the economics of grazing and soil fertility.

Winifred Hoffman, who with her husband graze and milk a herd of Dutch-Belt cattle in Illinois, is to talk about principles of cross-breeding for pasture profits, and give practical tips for seasonal dairying and grazing.

Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County extension dairy specialist, is to discuss how grazing affects nutrient management and water quality.

After lunch, Allen Weicksel, a dairy farmer from Peach Bottom, is to talk about grazing alfalfa and sudan grass, and fencing considerations and ideas.

Marlin Metzler, a top grazer from Wisconsin is to talk about how grazing can improve the bottom line, how to maintain good production on grass, and ideas on operating a low-overhead business.

Glen Moyer, a client of Sonny Golden, from Somerset County, is to discuss coping with wet and dry conditions, some advantages of grazing overcropping, and handling the spring flush.

An open, question-and-answer forum with the speakers is to be held during the final hour.

Co-sponsors of the event are Agra-Dynamics, Ag Fence Systems, Belmont Breeders, Farmer's Supply, Free Choice Enterprise, Kencove Fencing, and Meadow Green Valley Inc.

For more information, contact Arden Landis at (215) 593-8160, or call Shirk at (717) 394-6851.

AGCO ALLIS 6600 SERIES TRACTORS

OPERATOR FRIENDLY

The AGCO Allis 6600 Series row crop tractors are engineered to put you comfortably in control. In addition to a comfortable cab or a platform and ROPS, you get low maintenance, low operating costs and a 4-year/4,000-hour warranty.

- Trouble-free, air- and oil-cooled engine. The 6600 Series tractors are equipped with low-maintenance, 4-cylinder, air- and oil-cooled diesel engines. The 6670 provides 63 PTO hp and the 6680 73 PTO hp, both with 22% torque rise. The 6690 has a turbocharged 81 PTO hp engine that delivers a 28% torque rise, as well as the best fuel economy in its class.

- Many speed choices. The synchropower transmission with a separate synchro-reverser offers 12 forward and 12 reverse speeds, planetary final drive and a self-adjusting, hydraulically-actuated clutch. An optional creeper transmission provides 16 forward and 16 reverse speeds; a dual speed option has 24 forward and 12 reverse and a power Hi-Lo transmission provides 30 forward and 30 reverse speeds. All tractor models are available as either 2WD or AWD.

- PTO power and versatility. The independent PTO operates at 540/1,000 rpm with 6- and 21-spline shafts and has a hydraulically-actuated wet PTO clutch. The Category II/I 3-point hitch has a convenient rear remote control and is equipped with telescopic stabilizers. Optional telescopic lower links are also available.

- Quality performance and comfort. The 6600 Series tractors ride on premium Goodyear® radial tires. They have hydrostatic power steering, a tilt-telescopic steering wheel, hydraulically-actuated wet disc brakes and a mechanically-actuated differential lock. AWD models have four-wheel brakes for 40% better braking and an operator controlled front differential lock for tighter turns. All operated from the comfort of the enclosed cab.

To experience the user-friendliness of the 6600 Series tractors, or any of the "orange" line of AGCO Allis tractors ranging from 40 to 128 PTO hp, stop by or call us soon.

N.Y., N.J. Farmers To Receive $13.44

ALBANY, N.Y. — Dairy farmers who supplied regulated milk dealers (handlers) under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during November 1993 will be paid by handlers on the basis of a uniform price of $13.44 per hundredweight (28.9 cents per quart).

The price for the corresponding month last year was $12.94 per hundredweight, according to Market Administrator Ronald C. Pearce, who also stated that the price was $12.83 in October 1993.

The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive plan has been suspended for 1993. If the plan had been in effect, the remainder of the monies deducted in the spring months plus interest earned would have been returned in the November uniform price calculation.

A total of 11,798 dairy farmers supplied handlers regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders with 881,123,147 pounds of milk during November 1993. This was an increase of 2.1 percent (about 18 million pounds) from last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $119,914,482.97. This included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not premiums, deductions authorized by the farmer, or assessments.

Regulated handlers used 391,062,849 pounds of milk for Class I, 44.4 percent of the total. This milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low test, and skim milks. For November 1993, handlers paid $14.32 per hundredweight (30.8 cents per quart) for Class I milk compared with $14.70 a year ago.

Handlers used 151,231,769 pounds of milk for Class II products, 17.2 percent of the total. Class II products include fluid cream, egg nog, ricotta and cottage cheeses, ice cream, and yogurt. Handlers paid $13.42 per hundredweight for this milk.

The balance (338,828,529 pounds or 38.4 percent) was used to manufacture Class III products including butter, cheese other than ricotta and cottage cheese, and dried milk. Handlers paid $12.81 per hundredweight for this milk.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat, each one-tenth of one percent that the milk there was a price differential of 6.4 cents for the 3.5 percent standard.

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — National average price support rates for 1994-crop soybeans and minor oilseeds were announced recently by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). The rates are $4.92 per bushel for soybeans and 8.7

cents per pound for each type of oilseed.

ASCS official Richard Troutman said the soybean and minor oilseed rates vary among counties. "The loan rate that applies to a specific quantity produced is based on the county where that quantity is stored," he said.

For warehouse-stored loans, Troutman said the Commodity Credit Corporation may apply premiums and discounts to the rate to reflect the quality factors of a given quantity placed under loan. County loan rates will be announced later.

Eastern Milk Co-op Appoints Stephan

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, December 25, 1993-A37

PHELPS, N.Y. — John Stephan was recently appointed to the board of Eastern Laboratory Services, in Waverly, a subsidiary of Eastern Milk Producers.

Appointed by the Eastern board of directors, Stephan was selected because of his experiences in the cooperative's Young Cooperator (YC) Program, the educational and leadership development arm of Eastern.

Not only has John been the YC president for the past four years — the maximum by-law allowance — but he has represented the YCs on Eastern's Board of Directors. Because of John's industry knowledge and leadership skills, the board wanted to utilize his skills in another area of Eastern.

According to Eastern Chairman Lewis Gardner, a dairy farmer from Galeton, "John will make positive contributions to the Lab Board, just as he has in serving as John Stephan is appointed to board of Eastern Laboratory Services.

YC President on Eastern's Board."

The new Lab board member said, "I've gained a regional and national perspective of the dairy industry, learned how a board of directors operates, and now I'm excited to apply my leadership skills to another part of Eastern."

John received a "Special Recognition Award" at the Eastern Annual Banquet in September for his leadership and dedication to the YC program. More recently, the YCs presented a leather briefcase to him at their YC Fall Conference and Annual Meeting, Suffern, NY, where his term officially ended.

YC Coordinator, Stephanie Meyers has worked closely with John for more than two years. She said, "John's insight onto the YC Program will have a lasting effect on the future leadership of Eastern."

John is a full partner of Schoe-Acres, Phelps, NY, where they milk 80 registered Holsteins with a herd average of 26,300 pounds of milk. The 450-acre farm has been in his partner, Ed Schoen's family since 1936.

John and his wife, Ho (Godelieve), have two sons: Jacob, 12, and Isaac, 8. Outside his Eastern activities, John is a county director for the Northeast DHIA, a little league coach and a member of the Lyons Presbyterian Church and Youth Fellowship.

A wholly-owned subsidiary of Eastern, the Lab does dairy and environmental testing for clients in New York and Pennsylvania. With 3,200 members in nine northeastern states, the cooperative markets 1.2 billion pounds of milk each year.

Beaver Capon Sale A Success

BEAVER (Beaver Co.) — Eighteen 4-H's exhibited and sold 36 capons which averaged $3.72 per pound at the recent Beaver County 4-H Capon Sale.

Shown here is Andy Chaffee, 15, Ohlerville, second from left, with the grand champion capon. Dr. Atcheson, Brighton Township, far left, purchased the 10.2-pound bird for $10 per pound (for a total of $102). With him are Tony Boone, 13, Hookstown, with his 10.2-pound reserve grand champion, which was purchased by John McCandless, right, for First Western Bank N.A. for $9 per pound (a total of $91.80).

The capons were purchased as day-old chicks from Longenecker Hatchery, Elizabethtown. The champion was an Avian Roaster and the reserve was a Hubbard Roaster.

Goat Product Marketing Group Organizes

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Several people met on November 8 in State College to discuss the need for an organization devoted to the promotion and marketing of products from goats in Pennsylvania.

The recent opening market for fluid goat milk in the state, as well as the growing export market for dairy goats, prompted the interest in an organization which could coordinate the expanding markets for all goat products.

The purpose of the proposed Pennsylvania Caprine Products Association would be to provide a network for those who produce, market, promote, and have an interest in Pennsylvania caprine products. This association would be in direct support of any Pennsylvanian who is involved in, or has an interest in, the process and/or production of caprine products.

These caprine products would include, but not be limited to goat meat, fluid milk and milk products, hides, cosmetics such as soap, fiber, and providing goats for blood products research and export.

An organizational meeting is planned for 10:30 a.m. on January 16 at the Days Inn, 240 S. Pugh Street, State College. Sunday brunch will be available at a cost of $8.25 and all people interested in or producing or processing a product from goats in Pennsylvania are invited to attend.

For more information, contact the following: Rick and Denise Goss, (spokespeople) Palmyra, (717) 838-4610; Brady Kadunce, (acting secretary), RD 2 Box 137, Clarion, PA 16214, (814) 226-5405; Gwen Musselman, New Enterprise, (814) 766-2713; Danny Harter, American Dairy Goat Association District II director, (814) 383-4310.

Forest Wetland BMPs Handbook Available

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The free pocket guide "Best Management Practices for Silvicultural Activities in Pennsylvania's Forest Wetlands" now is available from Penn State Cooperative Extension offices, Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry district offices and regional wood industry groups.

The guide is published by the Pennsylvania Forest Issues Working Group, which includes representatives from industry, government, public-interest groups, and educational institutions.

"The guide is intended for field use by foresters, loggers, landowners and other forest land managers," says Dr. Stephen Jones, associate professor of forest resources. "Its 64 pages include helpful guidelines and illustrations. We're establishing a statewide distribution network to ensure that it gets to those who need it."

The first section reviews the functions and values of wetlands and describes the basic characteristics of the four most common types of forest wetlands in Pennsylvania: temporary ponds, spring seeps, streamside wetlands and beaver ponds.

Listed are common plant and soil indicators and other clues signaling the presence of wetlands. Also covered are techniques for developing wetlands and buffer zones and conducting pre-harvest evaluations.

Section two outlines federal and state regulations relating to Pennsylvania wetlands, focusing mainly on Chapter 25 of the Pennsylvania Code, which covers dam safety and waterway management rules and regulations.

"We included a table summarizing activities covered by Chapter 25 as well as those not covered," Jones said. "Also reviewed are waivers, general permits, small project permits and joint permit applications."

Section three summarizes the recommended best management practices (BMPs) for operating in wetlands. "This is the heart of the guide," Jones said. "It presents a detailed list of recommendations and discusses BMPs and their relationship to wetland regulations and government guidelines concerning erosion and sedimentation pollution control."

"The BMPs listed relate to using haul roads, skid trails and landings, felling trees and establishing buffer zones. The section also identifies BMPs that are conditions of various general permits."

Six appendices provide a checklist for wetlands protection on timber harvesting sites, names of the most common Pennsylvania wetlands plants, important provisions of the Clean Water Act, addresses and phone numbers of federal, state and local contacts, a list of references and a glossary.

Additional distribution points for the guide will be added over time. For more information about the guide or about the Forest Issues Working Group, contact Stephen Jones, of Penn State, at (814) 863-0401, or Maurice Forrester, of SEDA-Council of Governments, at (717) 524-4491.

Nutrient Management Is CMA Annual Luncheon Topic

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Farmers who want to learn how Pennsylvania's recently implemented Nutrient Management Act may affect their operations should attend the 10th annual luncheon of the Pennsylvania Crop Management Association.

The luncheon is to take place Jan. 26 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in State College, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

State Rep. Jeffrey Coy is to be the keynote speaker. He is to discuss how the Nutrient Management Act originated, what its objectives are and who will be affected.

Michael Krempasky, director of DER's Bureau of Land and Water Conservation, will discuss nutrient management implementation and enforcement. John Longenecker, director of the State Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Plant Industry, will discuss certification of nutrient planners.

Other speakers include Dr. Lamartine Hood, dean of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, Sen. Roger Madigan, and Dr. Al Turgeon, head of the agronomy department in the college.

The meeting also will provide an opportunity for members of the Pennsylvania Crop Management Association to feature their nutrient management programs.

The association was established in 1984 to work with local non-profit crop management associations (CMAs) in promoting sound cropping practices. Members pay acreage and membership fees in return for agronomic crop consulting services, which include soil sampling, weekly crop scouting, yield checks, field-specific computerized record-keeping and assistance in developing nutrient and pest management strategies. Members pay an average of $5.75 per acre for services.

"Not only have CMA farmers been developing nutrient management plans for years, but they also use a computer-based record-keeping system for documenting field-specific nutrient practices," said Jan Pruss, manager of the college's crop management program. "The association is proud of its work in promoting management practices that sustain farm profitability and water quality."

Currently, nearly 500 farmers have 84,000 acres enrolled in CMAs. Ten local associations are affiliated with 34 Pennsylvania counties. As a result of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) approving integrated crop management cost-sharing for every county in Pennsylvania, CMAs hope to significantly increase membership in 1994.

Farmers who join will be eligible for cost-sharing where county offices of the ASCS approve the integrated crop management practice.

To register for the annual Pennsylvania Crop Management Association luncheon, contact Jan Pruss, at (814) 863-1020.

Combine Accident Changes Life Forever

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent
ST. THOMAS (Franklin Co.)

— About 5:30 p.m. on October 4, Jere Wingert climbed into his combine and began shelling corn in a field in front of his house. After a few minutes, the outside row of the combine header clogged with corn stalks.

As he had done many times before, the 30-year-old beef and hog farmer climbed out of the cab, stood on the platform above the auger and removed the obstruction. But this time he was wearing old shoes with smooth soles, and the platform was coated with corn dust.

He slipped, feet first, into the spinning 6-inch auger.

An auger pin pierced his left shoe, wrapping his leg around the auger one and a half times. His shoe was on top, where he could see it. He couldn't see his right leg, however, as it had slipped under the auger. "I thought it was off," he says.

In minutes, his life was changed. And although Wingert lost part of his left leg in the accident, he said he also gained something — a thankfulness in this holiday season for the kindness and generosity of his neighbors. And especially, an appreciation for the sharp ears of his 3½-year-old son, Nicholas.

After falling into the auger, Wingert braced himself with his arms against the frame of the combine to keep from being pulled in farther and shouted for help. He called for his wife, his father, a neighbor. No one came.

His wife, Carol, was upstairs in the farmhouse running bath water for Nicholas.

"Mommy, I hear a kitty-cat," Nicholas said.

Carol turned off the water and listened. When she realized it was her husband calling, she wrapped Nicholas in a bathrobe and ran outside.

"I was getting to the end," Wingert says now. "It wasn't even like a regular holler."

Following her husband's instructions, Carol pulled the lever to disengage the auger. Then she ran back to the house to call 911.

Wingert was in the combine up to his waist; Carol thought both of his legs were severed. "I told the dispatcher that he was conscious, but I wasn't sure for how long."

Paramedics tried to free Wingert by turning the auger backwards with a wrench, but it caused him too much pain. They also tried the JAWS rescue tool, but its vibrations were intolerable.

"I kept thinking, 'They don't know how to get him out of there,'" Carol said.

Several neighboring farmers had also arrived on the scene. A local machinery repairman, Jerry Miller, was summoned to bring his propane torch to cut the auger.

"If it wasn't for him, I don't know where I'd be at this point," Wingert said, sitting on a couch in his family room seven weeks after the accident.

The farmers wanted to lift the auger out as soon as both ends were cut, but paramedics insisted on placing a tourniquet around Wingert's left thigh first.

"What one didn't understand the other one did," Carol said of the joint rescue.

Wingert remembers seeing

Nicholas is proud of the fact that he was the first to hear his father calling for help. Whenever the story of his father's accident is told, Nicholas makes sure his part of the drama is included. "I thought it was a lost little pussy cat," he says.

Nicholas loves the baby pigs.

Carol, Nicholas and Jere Wingert are thankful this holiday season that Jere's life was spared, although he lost his left leg in a combine accident.

about five farmers at each end of the auger. Others supported his body as the auger was raised, his leg still wrapped around it.

Paramedics told Carol the right leg was all right, but gave her no assurances for the left leg, she recalled.

The rescue operation took only 24 minutes; Wingert estimates he was in the combine between five and 10 minutes before Nicholas heard him.

A medical helicopter airlifted the injured farmer to the Shock Trauma Unit of the University of Maryland Hospital in Baltimore, where he lost consciousness. He had been "very much with it," until then, Carol said.

Several hours later, despite doctors' attempts to save it, Wingert's left leg was amputated at mid-thigh. "There really was no choice," Carol said. "It was his life or his leg."

After 20 units of blood and four further operations, Wingert was transferred to Mechanicsburg Rehabilitation Hospital October 22. There, he progressed from a wheelchair to a walker to crutches and was discharged November 5.

Homestead Notes

that reached to our ankles.

My mother usually roasted one of our free-range turkeys and invited our grandparents for dinner. My grandfather would always ask me to get him the tail of the turkey as that was his favorite piece.

Our stockings usually contained an orange and some hard candy. The tree in our front room was a small cedar tree that my father chopped from the same meadow where we now live in our log house. The short needles were very prickly but we decorated it with balls and paper chains which we colored and then glued together. The door was decorated with a collapsible red paper bell that had faded.

The highlight of the season was not the one toy that I received but rather the children's program at church. Would I remember my piece and would my younger sisters say their recitations? Some did remember and some did not. When the program was over, we marched down a back stairway and got a big orange and a box of chocolate candy. It was almost impossible to keep the box shut as we were driven home in our 1923 Overland car.

Today our grandchildren rip open box after box of gifts. Their many toys are quickly scattered everywhere. I think it would be hard to appreciate such abundance. My parents did the best that they could for their seven girls during the depression and we survived.

Wingert received more than 500 cards during and after his hospital stay. "The nurses and the mail people said they never saw anyone get mail like that," he recalled. "They asked, 'Are you somebody special that we don't know about?"

Now, Wingert is home, waiting for his stump to heal completely. Then, he will be fitted with a temporary prosthesis and will return to the rehabilitation hospital for 10 to 14 days to learn to use it.

"The goal is for him to get the temporary leg and be home again by Christmas," Carol, 31, said.

The couple's second child is due January 5. "He has to be here for that," she added.

He'll be fitted with a permanent leg when the swelling in the stump has completely subsided. Wingert said he will select the features he wants from a high-tech assortment such as a hydraulic knee and a foot with sensors. After therapy, he expects to be able to do everything he had done before except possibly "running as fast as before," he said.

But he's running already, even without a prosthesis.

"I have to shut the door and not watch," Carol said after seeing her husband, one crutch in the air, going after an escaped cow recently.

"I gained on her, didn't I?" Wingert replied.

Neighbors completed Wingert's autumn work while he was in the hospital. "The combine was fixed and running by Thursday (after the accident)," he said. "All the corn was shelled. There were so many volunteers. We're sure thankful for that."

His family is just thankful he is still with them.

"I could easily not be. I was tired of hollering. I was about ready to give up, but I knew if I let go I'd be done," Wingert said.

"This has brought our family closer together," he continued. "We live in such a fast-paced society. We need to slow down. We think we need and want things, more than what we're thankful for."

Nicholas likes to help his father look after the steers.

Salt For Household Chores

(NAPS) — Here's a notion to shake — that salt is just for adding flavor to food. Fact is, table salt is a great help for handling many household chores, especially for holiday clean-ups, says the experts at Morton Salt:

- After holiday parties and throughout the New Year clean-ups can be easier with table salt. To remove wine stains from cotton fabric immediately, pour enough salt directly on the stain to soak up the liquid. Immerse fabric for ½ hour in cold water. Launder as usual.

- To remove ketchup stains from nylon plush carpeting, immediately sprinkle with enough salt to soak up the stain, wipe away excess with a paper towel and vacuum. Use a dampened sponge to remove any residual stain.

- Remove rust from tools by making a paste using two tablespoons salt and one tablespoon lemon juice. Apply the paste to rust with a dry cloth and rub.

TAKING TIME

by Rebecca Escott

Extension Home Economist

It's Okay When It's Not the Same

These past few weeks I've heard people sometimes defiantly, sometimes regretfully, saying that they're not going to decorate a tree this year, send cards, host the usual party. One friend was desperately trying to find someone who knew how to make an ethnic recipe that only her Mom had made. This year the family would be celebrating without their mother, but they wanted the day to be "just the way it used to be."

We do ourselves a disservice if we must recreate a perfect holiday each year. Even I made some decisions this past week about just how many batches of cookies I needed to make to share with neighbors. Did I really have to do the cut-outs? And do two adults have to hang and fill stockings?

This morning you may have gotten up and wandered around your home thinking about former Christmas celebrations that perhaps seemed more magical. Today, I want to say to you, "It's okay when things aren't the same as they used to be." Even those of you who have houses filled with children's laughter and chaos may be longing for a different kind of holiday experience.

Each day we make choices about how we spend our time. And the choices you made this year I'm sure were different than the choices you'll make next year or that you made last year. That's normal. But today is a time not to worry or regret the choices. Today is a time to enjoy the day JUST AS IT IS.

Here are some things that you may be able to enjoy today.

Enjoy a phone call from a grandchild.

Enjoy watching children play with abandon.

from the activity by stepping outside.

Enjoy lingering conversation with one or two friends over a cup of coffee.

Enjoy a football game or movie. Enjoy a piece of homemade pie. Enjoy looking through family photo albums or re-reading greeting cards.

Enjoy picking up the paper and empty boxes. Remind yourself that there is a floor at the bottom of this mess.

Enjoy a "whisper hour" when everyone in the house must whisper. Set the timer.

Enjoy a home filled with potpourri or scents of candles.

Enjoy knowing that you haven't traveled all over the state exhausting yourself.

Enjoy sleeping in and not having to "clock-in" at work.

Enjoy visiting your very own stable.

Instead of waiting for a perfect, storybook celebration, say "It's okay that things aren't the way they used to be." Take some time to enjoy the day just as it is. And consider fulfilling some of your holiday expectations during January.

Maryland Teens Win Awards At 4-H Congress

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Six Maryland teens — five of them from Carroll County — received national awards for their work in various project areas at the 1993 National 4-H Congress in Chicago recently.

Among them was Ginger Hull of Westminster, one of 12 4-H members nationwide to receive the presidential tray award — 4-H's highest honor.

Hull was recognized for her citizenship activities, which include volunteer work with the Kids on the Block puppet troupe and 4-H's handicapped riding program. She also serves as junior leader for a 4-H club whose members have special needs.

Hull's parents flew to Chicago to see her receive the award. Her older sister, Heather, a 1992 presidential tray award recipient, also was on hand, serving as one of six National 4-H youth advisors for the 1993 Congress.

Other national winners from Carroll County were Melanie Soper of Westminster for achievement, Gabriel Zepp of Westminster for beef, Jenny Brothers, also of Westminster, for clothing and Marti Fair of Manchester for veterinary science. Shannon Harrison, a Howard County 4-H member who lives in Burkittsville (Fre-

Christmas Dinner Ideas

The holiday meal is probably the most festive one you'll prepare all year — a real show stopper!

Can it be spectacular and special yet simple, too?

Yes, if you select foods that are easy to prepare and add your own special touches.

Do as much of the preparation ahead of time as possible.

It is possible to entertain elegantly and easily if you know a few tricks.

A boneless ham or a boneless beef roast are some of the easiest entrees to cook and serve. Once in the oven, the roast cooks virtually unattended. Because it's boneless, carving is easy even for the novice. It needs no preparation except for perhaps a seasoning rub prior to roasting.

ZESTY PEPPER RUB FOR BEEF ROAST

2 teaspoons each cracked black pepper and dry mustard

½ teaspoon ground allspice

½ teaspoon red pepper

1 large garlic clove, crushed

1 teaspoon vegetable oil

Combine pepper, dry mustard, allspice, red pepper, and garlic; stir in oil to form paste. Rub mixture evenly over surface of beef roast. Place roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part but not resting on bone or fat. Roast at 325 degrees for about three hours for a 6-pound roast.

EASY POTATO SALAD

10 cooked potatoes, diced or shredded

6 hard-boiled eggs

¼ cup celery, chopped

1 small onion

1½ cups salad dressing

2 tablespoons mustard

2½ tablespoons vinegar

1½ teaspoon salt

1 cup sugar

Put potatoes, eggs, celery, and onions in bowl. In separate bowl, mix remaining ingredients. Sprinkle in celery seed to season. Stir the ingredients until sugar is dissolved. Pour over potato mixture and mix thoroughly with a spoon. Chill.

Ringgold Pike Cook

EGGNOG BERRY TRIFLE

1 small package vanilla pudding and pie filling

2 cups dairy eggnog

6 ounces ladyfingers, split

¼ cup Amaretto liqueur

1½ cups sliced fresh strawberries

1½ cups whole fresh or frozen unsweetened raspberries

1 cup whipping cream

1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar

½ teaspoon almond extract

Whole fresh strawberries and raspberries, if desired

Fresh mint, if desired

Prepare pudding according to package directions using eggnog in place of milk. Cool. Sprinkle ladyfingers with Amaretto. Arrange about half of ladyfingers on sides and bottom of 8-inch springform pan. Spread strawberries over ladyfingers on bottom of pan. Spoon on half of the pudding. Arrange remaining ladyfingers over pudding. Spread raspberries over ladyfingers. Layer with remaining pudding. Refrigerate at least 4 hours. About 1 hour before serving, combine whipping cream, sugar, and almond extract in small mixer bowl. Whip until stiff peaks form. Pipe whipped cream through pastry tube fitted with star tip to cover top of trifle. Refrigerate. Just before serving, place trifle on serving plate. Carefully remove sides of pan. Garnish with fresh strawberries, raspberries and mint. Cut into wedges and serve. Yield: one 8-inch round dessert.

HAMBALLS

1 pound ground ham

1½ cups soft bread crumbs

½ teaspoon dry mustard

1 teaspoon prepared mustard

½ pound ground pork

1 egg

¼ cup brown sugar

Combine meats and crumbs, egg, and dry mustard. Mix well. Shape into balls and place in baking dish. Combine sugar and prepared mustard. Spread over top of balls. Dribble with a small amount of water to keep balls moist while baking. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 55 minutes.

Ringgold Cook

Whipped cream rosettes garnish this delicious Eggnog Berry Trifle, easily assembled from purchased ladyfingers, pudding mix and fresh strawberries and raspberries. A perfect end to a holiday meal.

FRENCH HOLIDAY TRUFFLES

½ cup whipping cream

8 ounces semi-sweet baking chocolate, chopped

½ cup butter, softened

Unsweetened cocoa or confectioners' sugar

Chocolate and vanilla candy coating, melted

In a 2-quart saucepan, combine whipping cream and chocolate. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until chocolate melts, 7 to 9 minutes. Remove from heat.

Stir in butter until melted and creamy. Cover, refrigerate until firm, at least 2 hours.

Dust hands with cocoa or confectioners' sugar. Working quickly, shape 2 teaspoonsfuls of mixture into balls; roll in cocoa or confectioners' sugar. (Truffle mixture will be soft. Repeat dusting hands to make shaping easier to use small ice cream scoop to form balls). Refrigerate truffles until firm, at least 45 minutes.

To coat truffles, use a spoon or wooden pick to dip truffles into melted candy coating; let excess coating drip off. Place dipped truffles on waxed paper until coating is hard. If desired, to decorate, drizzle dipped truffles with melted colored candy coating. Store truffles in tightly covered container in refrigerator. Makes about 2 dozen.

CRAN-RASPBERRY MOLD

2 cups boiling water

6-ounce box raspberry Jell-O

16 ounces whole cranberry sauce

1 cup sour cream

Pour boiling water on Jell-O, stir until dissolved. Stir in cranberry sauce. Refrigerate until partly jelled. Beat in sour cream. Refrigerate until firm. Serves 8.

RAISIN CREAM PIE

1 cup raisins

1½ cups milk

½ cup flour

¾ cup sugar

2 egg yolks

1 tablespoon butter

1 teaspoon vanilla

¼ teaspoon salt

Stew raisins in a little water. Mix flour, sugar, and salt. Add milk and egg yolks. Cook until thickened. Add stewed raisins, butter, and vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell and top with meringue.

HOW TO STUFF, ROAST, AND CARVE A TURKEY

Stuffing: Rinse the turkey inside and out with cold water and pat dry with paper towels. Lightly spoon some of the stuffing into the neck cavity. Spoon the stuffing in loosely, do not pack. This leaves room for the stuffing to expand during roasting. Pull the neck skin over the stuffing to the back of the bird.

Lightly spoon some stuffing into the body cavity; do not pack. Tuck the drumsticks under the band of skin across the tail. If the skin is not present, tie the legs securely to the tail with string. This helps the bird hold its shape. Twist the wing tips under the back to hold the neck skin in place.

Roasting: Place the turkey, breast side up in roasting pan. Brush with oil. Insert meat thermometer in center of the inside thigh muscle, making sure bulb does not touch bone. Cover.

Roast in 325 degree oven until thermometer registers 185 degrees, basting occasionally with juices. Uncover and cut band of skin between legs for last 45 minutes of roasting. Remove turkey from oven; cover loosely with foil. Let stand 15 minutes before carving.

Carving: Cutting beautiful slices depends on using a good, sharp, non-serrated carving knife. Serrated knives tend to tear tender meat, producing shreds instead of slices.

Make sure you let the turkey set for at least 12 minutes after removing from oven. This makes the meat easier to carve.

Start carving by removing the drumsticks and thighs. Next remove the wings; but only the tip and center sections. Leave the last section of the wing attached to the breast. This provides a good broad base to help prevent the bird from tilting when you slice the "breast."

When carving the turkey breast, start by making a deep horizontal base cut into the breast, just above the wing bone. Then you can release nice even slices by cutting in a vertical direction down through the breast to the base cut.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

For all you — like me — last minute shoppers!

What do you get a farmer for Christmas
As this holiday deadline grows near?

What can you place 'neath that pine-scented tree
To fill him with joy and good cheer?

How 'bout a screwdriver, hammer or wrench
That as quickly and sly as a fox

When tossed to the ground 'neath a broken machine
Returns itself to his toolbox.

Or maybe a button to push — a surprise! —
Which he's bound to forever remember.

That'll bring down an inch of rain one night per week
From May right up into September.

A pair of soft, warm, fuzzy outside-work gloves

That will never wear out into holes.
And a pair of tough, long-lasting barnyard boots
With 10-year-wear-guaranteed soles.

Give Him a speedy and healthy prescription
For livestock that loves to jump fences,
And thinks that those few tiny pieces of wire
Are just strung 'round the lot for pretenses.

He'd sure like a tractor that uses a fuel
Not drilled from the depths of geology,

But runs on manure, old corn stalks and bald tires
Saving fuel bills. Also, the ecology.

But the gift that's most needed by farmers we know
(Would boggle his mind — I've no doubt!)

Is an endless reserve in that sinking account:

A bank balance that never runs out.

Lancaster Society 18

Ann Burkins was hostess to Farm Women #18 on December 9, at Fieldcrest with 21 members and four guests attending.

Ella Mae Hershey had devotions reading "The Birth of Jesus" from Luke's gospel and the Alphabet of Christmas.

Roll call was answered by naming a family Christmas tradition. Martha Stoner and Sue Wissler had perfect attendance for the year.

And from our family to yours — Merry Christmas!

Mary Lou Shelton and Ruth Landis gave a report on the County Convention.

A donation of $50 was given to Water Street Rescue Mission.

Ruth Rohrer installed the new officers for this society the next two years.

Mildred Kreider and Ruth Rohrer will be the delegates to the 75th State Convention of Pennsylvania Farm Women in Harrisburg January 10.

Jane W. Roth gave an interesting and entertaining portrayal of "Harriet Lane — America's Princess."

The January meeting will be a breakfast buffet meeting at Country Table with the husbands or guests invited.

This poem is adapted from a column Joyce wrote about 15 years ago.

PEACE ON EARTH

Behold the Lord Jesus as he lay surrounded by those who loved Him.
Hear His message...and spread the divine goodness everywhere, always!

PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE"

Developed through testing in our research farms the goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay one, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity fil-prail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.

CONFINEMENT STALL

Developed recently in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (21"-24" O.C. x 86")

NURSERY PENNING

Nursery penning has been improved by the use of an optional solid stainless steel panel on the front gates which keeps walkways clean. Stainless steel verticals on penning eliminates corrosion where penning attaches to the floor. Stainless steel drinker pipes & mounting brackets also increase durability.

FINISHING PENNING

Optional stainless steel verticals and fasteners offer improved durability over other similar types of penning. Loop and flapper latch arrangement eliminates the use of drop pins. Stainless steel fence line feeders provide excellent durability and a minimum of waste.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Carole Nace, Mifflintown, would like a recipe for chocolate trifle.

QUESTION — Rose Futrell, Cape May, N.J. wants a recipe for pumpkin cheese cake that includes cognac.

QUESTION — Bette Lawrence, Honesdale, would like a recipe for pear jam or pear jelly that uses green tomatoes as an ingredient.

QUESTION — Samuel Musumeci, Woodstown, N.J., has a non-cooking question, which he hopes readers can answer. He would like to know where to purchase coal to use in an old forge.

QUESTION — A Chambersburg reader would like recipes for bread-making machines. She has a Hitachi. She writes that the only way that she can get good bread is by using less water and extra flour. She's tried many recipes from different bread-making books. She finds that rapid-bake produces a much higher loaf. She cannot get a cinnamon-raisin bread to rise more than one-half no matter what she does. She would like any hints that can help in machine bread baking.

QUESTION — A reader would like to know the rationale for needing to scald milk when a recipe says scald and cool.

QUESTION — Mel Martin, Penn Yan, N.Y., wants a recipe for regular old-fashioned pretzels.

QUESTION — Pat Elligson, Millers, Md., would like a recipe for kinklings, a deep fried large raised type donut. She had some at the Frederick Co. Fair and would like the recipe.

QUESTION — Priscilla Grube, Mohrsville, would like a recipe to sugar cure smoked ham and bacon.

QUESTION — Mrs. Dixie Fix, Harrisonville, would like a recipe for bananas in red syrup such as those served at the Ponderosa dessert bar.

QUESTION — Rosemary Matting, 176 Hayes Rd., Kersey, PA 15846, would like to know where she can get a catalogue to order butchering equipment such as knives, saws, slicer, meat curing products, etc.

QUESTION — Cindy Dohoda, Schellsburg, would like to find a recipe for strawberry mousse.

QUESTION — Cindy Dohoda, Schellsburg, would like a recipe for a good rolled chocolate cookie to cut with cookie cutters.

QUESTION — Lois Martin, Waynesboro, would like a recipe for stack cake that is similar to a fruit cake without nuts.

QUESTION — A New York reader would like a recipe to make venison sausage.

QUESTION — Another non-cooking question comes from Vicky Mitchell, 2275 Nickerson Ct. Fairbanks, AK 99709-6306. She desperately needs an instruction manual to a Commodore sewing machine (model ZE 7932). She will pay for photocopying and postage. Send your information directly to Vicky, please.

ANSWER — A Chambersburg reader wanted a recipe for hard candy made with honey. Thanks to a reader for sending two recipes.

Peanut Butter Candy

1 cup peanut butter
1½ cups powdered milk
1 cup honey
Nuts or seeds, optional
Mix ingredients well. Spread in pan and cut into squares.

Hoarhound Candy

2 cups sugar
½ cup syrup
¼ cup honey
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon hoarhound tea leaves
1 tablespoon vinegar
Mix together sugar, syrup, and honey. Pour boiling water over tea leaves and let steep 5 minutes.

Strain tea and add to sugar mixture. Cook until syrup forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water (265 degrees). Add vinegar and butter; pour on buttered pans to cool. While slightly warm, mark squares with the back of a knife.

ANSWER — Amy Snyder, Gettysburg, requested instructions for making candles using paraffin wax, Ivory snowflakes, and ice cubes. An article in the December 4, issue of Lancaster Farming included a recipe. Thanks to Hazel Spamer, Perry Hall, for sending the following.

To color the paraffin wax, use old partially burned down candle stubs or used crayons.

To vary the basic candle, break up ice cubes and pour loosely into milk carton. Pour melted paraffin over the ice, making sure that the wax gets into all the crevices left by the ice pieces. When the wax has hardened, be sure to pour out the melted water from the ice before you try to unmold the candle.

While some of the wax is still soft, whip with a beater into a froth and apply it to the exterior of the candle to produce a frosted effect. Contributor does not recall using Ivory Flakes, but they could probably be used by wetting the sides of the candle and applying them so they stick to the candle. Work fast with the whipped paraffin because it solidifies rapidly as it cools.

The smaller the ice pieces, the more solid the candle will become, but you encounter difficulty in getting the paraffin into all the corners you want it in.

ANSWER — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.Va., wanted recipes for low-fat sauces, vegetables, noodles, and lean meats. Here are some from our files.

Salsa-Stuffed Turkey Tenderloin

½ cup lemon juice from concentrate
1 large fresh tomato, seeded and chopped
2 tablespoons sliced green onion
2 tablespoons chopped green bell pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
½ teaspoon chili powder
2 (½-pound) fresh turkey breast tenderloins
½ cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese

In small bowl, combine all ingredients except turkey and cheese. Place turkey in shallow baking dish; cut a vertical slit in the center of each tenderloin. Fill each slit with vegetable mixture. Cover; marinate in refrigerator 4 hours or overnight. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until turkey is no longer pink. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer or until cheese melts. Refrigerate leftovers.

Italian Wedding Soup

½ pound very lean ground beef
½ cup fresh bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
5 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
8 cups water
½ cup uncooked small soup pasta
1½ cups cut-up fresh spinach leaves
Grated parmesan cheese, optional

In small bowl, mix meat, crumbs, egg, onion, and 1 teaspoon bouillon. Shape into ½-inch meatballs. In large kettle or Dutch oven, bring water and remaining 4 teaspoons bouillon to a boil. Add meatballs and pasta; cook 10 minutes. Add spinach; simmer 3 to 5 minutes or until tender. Serve with cheese if desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

Lemony Breakfast Cheese Spread

1 cup part-skim Ricotta cheese
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup lemon lowfat yogurt
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat ricotta cheese and sugar in small mixer bowl until smooth, about 5 minutes. Stir in yogurt and vanilla. Refrigerate, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. Spread 1 to 2 tablespoons cream spread on warm assorted toasted breads or rice cakes. Top with fresh or dried fruit, cooked bacon or sausage or sliced hard cooked egg.

Basic Turkey Patties

1 pound ground raw turkey
½ cup plain dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Shape into 5 thin patties. Broil in preheated broiler about 6 inches from source of heat about 4 minutes per side. Turkey patties may be cooked then frozen up to 1 month. Reheat in microwave oven on medium for 1½ to 3 minutes for 1 patty, turning after half the cooking time. Or bake in preheated 350 degree oven wrapped in aluminum foil 15 to 20 minutes.

ANSWER — Sheryl Wolfe, Wellsboro, requests a peanut bread recipe made without yeast. Thanks to a reader who sent in the following recipe.

Peanut Butter Bread

1½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chunky peanut butter
1 cup oatmeal
1 egg
1 cup milk

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in peanut butter. Add oatmeal, egg, and milk. Stir only until blended. Pour into loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Cool. Serve with jelly.

LIME CABBAGE SALAD

2 cups boiling water
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup lime Jell-O
½ teaspoon salt

After Jell-O is dissolved, add 2 cups cold water. When soft-set, fold in:

3 cups shredded cabbage
½ cup mayonnaise
10-ounces crushed pineapple
Chill for 6 hours.

Ringgold Pike Cook

AUNT IVA'S DRINK

1 large box strawberry Jell-O
1 large box raspberry Jell-O
1 large can frozen lemonade concentrate

Mix according to package directions. Add:

48-ounce can pineapple juice
Freeze. Add:
2 liter-size ginger ale.
Serve while slushy.

A Hagerstown Reader

CORN BREAD SAUSAGE STUFFING

1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced

1 cup chopped celery
¾ cup chopped onion
½ cup butter
1½ cups water

4 teaspoons chicken flavored bouillon

1 pound bulk sausage, browned and drained

8-ounce package corn bread stuffing mix

1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning

In large skillet, cook mushrooms, celery and onion in butter until tender. Add water and bouillon; cook until bouillon dissolves. In large bowl, combine mushroom mixture and remaining ingredients; mix well. Loosely stuff turkey just before roasting if desired. Place remaining stuffing in greased baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until hot. Refrigerate leftovers.

RICH TURKEY GRAVY

¼ to ½ cup unsifted flour
¼ cup pan drippings or butter
2 cups water

2 teaspoons chicken flavored instant bouillon

In medium skillet, over medium heat, stir flour into drippings; cook and stir until dark brown. Stir in water and bouillon; cook and stir until thickened and bouillon is dissolved. Refrigerate leftovers.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Jane Ferguson, Kirkwood, would like a cookie recipe for an almond cookie dough that is wrapped about a Hershey Kiss and baked. Thanks to Richard M. "Rudy" Rudowski, who writes that he is a Philadelphia 4-H agent and a bachelor who spends time in the kitchen.

He grew up in Michigan, one of seven children.

"Mother kept us very busy during the holiday season by helping her bake cookies and a variety of nut breads such as banana, date, cranberry, chocolate chip-coconut, and something we called "glue bread," he said.

The Sunday after Thanksgiving Day was always designated as nut cracking day. In addition to cracking, the children chopped, blanched, and ground nuts like almonds, walnuts, hazel nuts, and Brazil nuts.

"Mother always hated the following week because she invariably stepped on, in her bare feet, one of the shells that eluded her sweeping efforts," Rudy said.

Rudy always checks the recipe in this paper. One year he tried a recipe for cocoa-applesauce cake with caramel icing. The first time, it turned out great. The second time, he did not have enough brown sugar so he substituted dark brown corn syrup and figured that he could boil off the excess moisture. The only thing that happened was a broken wooden stirring spoon and a lot of effort with a hammer to break up one of the best tasting rich and sweet "oops" of the only candy he ever made. "Maybe we bachelors should stay out of the kitchen," he suggested.

You be the judge. Try these recipes from Rudy that have been passed down from his mother.

HIDDEN MINT COOKIES

- ½ cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon water
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1½ cups flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 3 dozen chocolate mint wafers

Cream together shortening, sugars, and egg; stir in water and vanilla. Blend flour and baking soda; stir into creamed mixture. Chill dough at least 3 hours.

Shape cookies by enclosing each chocolate mint wafer in about 1 tablespoon dough. Place about 2-inches apart on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 400 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes or until no imprint remains when touched lightly.

Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

CHOCOLATE CHIP SNOWBALLS

- ¾ cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup ground nuts
- 1 cup chocolate chips
- Confectioners' sugar

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in egg and vanilla, beat well. Add flour and mix well. Stir in nuts and chocolate chips; blend well. Shape into small balls about ¾-inch in diameter. Place on baking sheet and bake in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool slightly; then roll in confectioners' sugar. When thoroughly cool, roll in sugar again. Makes about 6 dozen.

SECRET KISS COOKIES

- 1 cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 cup finely chopped walnuts
- 10 ounces chocolate kisses
- Confectioners' sugar

Cream together butter, sugar, and vanilla. Add flour and nuts; mix well and chill. Using approximately one tablespoon dough, shape it around a chocolate kiss and roll to form a ball. Be sure to cover kiss completely. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and chill. Bake at 375 degrees, about 12 minutes or until cookies are set but not brown. Cool slightly, remove to wire rack. While still warm, roll in confectioners' sugar. Cool and store in tightly covered container. Roll in sugar again before serving if desired.

BRAZIL NUT SNOWBALLS

- ¾ cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups ground Brazil nuts
- Confectioners' sugar

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in egg and vanilla, beat together. Sift together flour and salt. Stir into creamed mixture. Add Brazil nuts and blend well. Shape into small balls about two-thirds-inch in diameter. Place on baking sheet and bake in 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool slightly; then roll in confectioners' sugar. When thoroughly cool, roll in sugar again. Makes about 6 dozen.

Eliminate Disease Before Repotting Plants

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — Plant diseases can be carried from season to season in a number of different ways. Two primary ways of importance to bedding plant producers is on plants left in the greenhouse and in previous crop debris.

Plants left in the bedding plant growing area may harbor viruses, bacteria, nematodes and fungi that may not cause obvious symptoms on the mature plants. However, as greenhouse temperatures and humidity are increased for seedling production, these organisms may become active, reproduce, and spread. It is best to remove all mature plants from the bedding plant area before flats of seedlings are moved in.

Crop debris may contain Botrytis or Pythium spores, tobacco mosaic virus, or other disease causing organisms. Not only debris on and in the soil must be removed but also leaves on the greenhouse glass, ribs, or other structures must be brushed or washed off. Following washing and removal, sodium hypochlorite (Clorox* or other household bleach) can be sprayed or painted on. Keep the surface of the item being disinfested wet with the mix (1 part bleach: 9 parts water) for 10 minutes. Then hose down the area, open the vents, and turn on the fans until the smell of bleach dissipates. Bleach will spot growing plants. Bleach fumes can redissolve on droplets of water condensed on the inside of polyhouses, drip on plants, and bleach leaves too. You should not be able to smell bleach when moving plants into the treated house.

Improve your soil by applying Martin's quality Hi-magnesium or Hi-calcium agricultural limestone.

A Very Short Christmas Story

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent
 Once upon a time a little girl named Natalie was so excited about Christmas, that she and her little sister, Lisa begged their mother to sleep under the Christmas tree with its cozy, twinkling lights, on Christmas Eve.
 You see the snow was falling outside. Inside, the only lights burning were the little ones on the tree. So it was very, very snug.
 In fact, the sisters begged to open the brightly-wrapped presents immediately, but Shelby, who was one year older than Natalie, and a very disciplined young girl, said "No, we will open our gifts on Christmas day." She had the voice of authority even before she was 10 years old.

 Shelby wanted a good rest in her own bed. She thought part of the Christmas fun was knowing you had to wait to open your gifts. In fact, waiting made the fun better.
 The three had another sister named Tracy. She was between Natalie and Lisa in age. They also had a little brother Weston. Their brother Seth was born later.
 Tracy was just as excited as her sisters, but she also enjoyed sleeping in her own comfy bed. So even though she loved cuddling under the tree in her flannel nightie, Tracy didn't insist on sleeping there.

 Natalie, (nickname "Boombie Dawn") had less control over her Christmas excitement than the others. Sister Lisa (nickname "Kitch Ann"), was almost as bad. Like urchins, they crawled around under the tree, handling the gifts until some of the pretty paper tore at the corner.

 "Oops! well, since it's ripped, we'll just peek through the hole for clues," they said, with sneaky grins.
 Their mother wanted all her children to be happy. So when Christmas day arrived, sometime after midnight, after everybody had a little nap but it was very dark outside, the family gathered around the beautiful Christmas tree.
 Presents were passed out. Bows and paper went flying. When it was over, there was no place to walk because the floor was covered with discarded boxes and wrappings.

 Everybody was happy. Even the little mouse that sneaked in sometime and stole the chocolate Hershey Kisses taped to one present. Bad mouse. Well, at least he left behind the foil wrappings. That way they knew he'd called at Christmas.

Return Of The Slow Cooker

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — One form of cooking that recently made its way back is slow cooking. Slow cooking took a giant leap forward in the seventies with the introduction of the electric slow cooker.

Promoted as a no-watch, miracle-type appliance that could cook almost any dish better than any other method, the slow cooker enjoyed instant popularity. It was a disappointment when you learned you had to cut the vegetables yourself and the vegetables came out tasting like meat and looking like mush. The claims for effortless, versatile cooking were in a sense unfortunate because they no doubt caused many consumers to become dissatisfied with the appliance and ban it to the top shelf of the cupboard.

Today's slow cookers have removable linings for easy cleaning and multiple heat settings. Some automatically shift from high to low heat, a nice food-safety feature. Even with these features, slow cookers are best suited for blending flavors in stews and sauces, and breaking down tough meat fibers.

Keep safety in mind when using a slow cooker. The slow cooker does a better job of killing disease-causing microbes than low-temperature cooking in a conventional oven because the heat is direct and is combined with steam in a tightly covered container. Still, take precautions to avoid holding foods in the danger zone (40° to 140°F) for too long.

To maximize the safety of the slow cooker:

- * make sure everything is clean — a clean cooker, clean utensils, clean work area, clean hands.

- * thaw meat or poultry in the refrigerator or microwave oven before placing in the slow cooker. If placed in the slow cooker while still frozen, meat may remain in the danger zone for more than three hours.

- * fill the slow cooker no more than two thirds full. Heat may not adequately penetrate to all parts of the food if the container is too full.

- * keep the lid secure. Since considerable heat is lost when the cover is lifted, remove the lid only to stir food or check for doneness.

- * set the cooker on the highest setting for the first hour of cooking. This high setting speeds the heating process. Then, set the control as directed in the recipe.

- * when finished eating, remove leftovers from the slow cooker and refrigerate or freeze. Reheat leftovers quickly on the range or in the microwave oven, not in the slow heat of the slow cooker.

- * if using slow cookers to keep food warm for a party or buffet, bring the food to a boil on the range and then use the slow cooker to keep it hot.

If you would be interested in any further information about food safety, contact the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Office in the basement of the original courthouse, 925 Court St., Honesdale, PA 18431 or call (717) 253-5970 ext. 239. The office is open Mon.-Fri. 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

The Year The Angel Helped Us

DAVID HIEBERT

Westmoreland Correspondent
SCOTTDAL (Westmoreland Co.) — Do angels really exist? Sometimes I do wonder. I know intellectually that there are angels in heaven, but do they really come and visit us on earth?

We read in the biblical account of Jesus' birth that the angel Gabriel was quite busy — at least it seems that the visits to Mary, Joseph, Elizabeth and Zacharias would have kept the heavenly travel agent working overtime. Especially because we don't know where else in the universe Gabriel might have had to go!

Since that flurry of terrestrial activity, we are not aware of such extensive earthly travel for any angel — even in the experience I'm about to tell you.

In this story, I hope I can convince you that angels still come and visit us, though in forms which we might not expect.

For me the beginning of last December began with a burden. Work projects crowded family time, travel on my job made keeping up with projects at home a nightmare. Then came the big crunch. Jeni, my wife, reported water problems in the basement. Of course, I tried to assure her that the dampness in that one room would go away. But it hung on.

The big snow storm which threw down 20 inches of wet, wild whiteness on the outside did not help. Sidewalks had to be shoveled, the roof of our porch threaten to cave in under the load, and our trees were breaking. When the snow plow came along, it piled the snow in a ridge that threaten to pen us in rather than release the snowy grip.

So, where does the angel come in? I didn't realize what form it might take, but one did pay us a visit.

On top of the snow, the rain began to come down. The mild temperature was dandy for the middle of December, but rain on top of snow? Where would all that water go?

Remember the damp basement? Could it end up there? No, not all of it, but enough. I was fuelling up our kerosene heaters after one of the Christmas school concerts where our children played or sang. I saw extra water in a spot that is sometimes damp. When I looked more closely, I found the water was about 4 inches deep.

In haste, I finished filling the heaters, and then investigated the rest of basement. Water flooded in everywhere. Our camping cooler floated below the jars of canned goods in the fruit room. On an island of bricks, the furnace hovered inches above a rising sea. Construction materials, awaiting spring projects, were drowned in a deluge. Would there be more damage? When would the water stop rising? What could we do?

Would Moses resurrect his prayerful powers and deliver us on dry land to the other side? Well, it couldn't be that dramatic.

First, I checked in with neighbor, Don. Did he have a pump? Since he worked in a hardware store, he surely would be able to point us in the right direction — even if he didn't have the water removal tools himself. As we visited at his front door, he let me know that he didn't have a pump, and didn't think he knew where we might find one.

A call to another neighbor produced a bit of assurance. He had a pump we could borrow. Though it had a limited capacity, it should help. We might have to let it run all night if needed. I picked up that electrically powered assistant and got it working in the deepest corner of the flooded basement. Finally, I was sure we could lick this problem.

The wet-dry shop vac could also be used to suck up the wet threat near the furnace, and we could use that old grain scoop and a galvanized tub to ladle water and dump it down the drain. Even though it was now approaching the kids usual bed time, I could solve this and even get a half decent night's sleep. Or so I thought.

Each time I came back to the furnace after filling the 8 gallon container and dumping down the drain, the water level would be back to where it started. How was all that water getting in? If I stopped vacuuming would it continue to rise?

Jeni was worried. Our furnace could be flooded out and we would be both wet and cold. Then she called the angel. Not a heavenly one, but one with two more pumps. The pump with larger capacity spit out about 3,000 gph once we got it in position, and the other one we used to transfer water from one wet room to where the big one took it away.

Why do I call this helper an angel? He came when our supply of hope neared the non-existent point. He came to our aid, without expectation of payment for time, or even the rent on his equipment. He came after 10 at night, when his daughter had just come home from college for the holidays. He came to help us even though he had worked all day in his own business.

Who but an angel would respond under those circumstances?

Maybe you say that being an angel is not such a hard thing, but I feel that for us, this friend might have been better than an angel. He actually got his hands dirty. When did you last see an angel with dirty hands? Or with tools that really helped get work done?

When I remember the Christmas of 1993, I will remember it as the year the angel came to visit. We did not hear "glorias" sung in the sky, but I felt hope restored in my heart. And isn't that the message that the angels brought so long ago? Hope?

I hope you also can feel a restoration of hope this year. It was in short supply for a while at our house. Until the angel came.

Museum Christmas Decorations Reflect Historic Traditions

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Compared to later periods, Christmas decorating was a simple affair in the early 1800's. Consequently, the 1830's Danner Exhibit in the Hershey Museum reflects that simplicity. A small tree decorated with sugar cookies, dried apples and raisins on strings was the extent of the holiday preparations. For most people today, it is a shock to realize that in the 18th and early 19th centuries, most Pennsylvanians did not celebrate Christmas.

Later in the 19th century, the Victorians began to decorate their homes and trees in a much more elaborate style. This momentum toward Christmas ornamentation was influenced by religious and children's publications and also by mid-19th century women's periodicals who were ardent promoters of Christmas and the Christmas tree. The parlor in the museum's Victorian House reflects this move toward fancy paper ornaments with brightly colored and embossed die-cuts.

Hershey Museum's Christmas decorations, for the most part, reflect central Pennsylvania's historic past. The unique, handmade ornaments which can be seen on the more than one dozen trees in the main exhibition hall were created by a corps of museum volunteers who worked for months to prepare for the holiday season.

Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. For information and special events schedule and group rates call (717) 534-3439. Throughout the holiday season, programs are free with museum admission which is $4 adults 16-61; senior citizens 62 & up $3.50; $1.75 youth 3-15; under 3 free.

Rohrer Family Find Century Farm Best Place To Celebrate Christmas

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff
STRASBURG (Lancaster Co.)

— For Roger and Kandy Rohrer and their three children, Christmas is a time to slow down, forget about the farm work, and enjoy family and friends.

The Rohrer family believe they have the best place — a century farm surrounded by rolling acres edged with woodland — in which to take a break from a fast-paced life.

"From Memorial Day to Labor Day, we are going full-speed ahead and it really doesn't slow down until Christmas," Roger said.

The most time consuming tasks for the Rohrers is the seven acres of tobacco that they grow and Roger's job as an ag lender for Corestates Hamilton Bank. In addition, Kandy has a quilt business. She pieces an average of two quilts a week and employs eight quilters. The quilts are marketed locally to tourists.

The century farm was purchased by Roger's great grandparents in 1893. From the beginning it was a 100-acre farm that had a public road running smack through the middle. In 1917, the farm was sold at a public auction and purchased by Roger's grandfather, who lived on it until 1945 when he purchased an adjacent farm and moved on it. The grandfather's oldest son, who is Roger's Uncle Henry, purchased the farm.

Roger grew up about one mile away on a dairy farm. Because he preferred crop farming, he often worked for his uncle, while his brother helped his dad on the dairy farm.

"I always admired this pristine valley," said Roger, who purchased an adjacent 40 acres of land in 1979.

When his uncle decided to retire in 1989, he offered to sell the farm to Roger and his brother. At that point, the brothers decided to split the 100 acre farm since it was already divided by the road. On the 50 acres that Roger purchased was the barn and tobacco shed but not the house so a new one was built.

With the 50 acres on the century farm and the 40 adjacent acres that Roger had previously purchased, the Rohrers' property is now 90 acres.

The Rohrers decided to apply for the Century Farm Award while their aunt and uncle were in good health and could enjoy the celebration. "My uncle lived on the property for 70 years and really deserves the recognition," he said.

Roger and Kandy were eligible for the award because in addition to the farm needing to remain in the same family for 100 years, the award's requirements state that the applicants must live on the property and derive an agriculture income from the land.

Roger and Kandy started by raising one acre of tobacco and now have seven acres of it.

"It allowed us to finance the land," Roger said. "It has been a great mortgage lifter."

(Turn to Page B16)

This is one of the more than 100 quilts that Kandy pieced this year. After she stitches the pieces together, she has one of the seven quilters who work for her, quilt the top. Most of the quilts are sold to tourists who see Kandy's work at local consignment shop or at two nearby Bed and Breakfast Inns.

Plan For Holiday Leftovers

The holiday season feasting days will soon be over for another year but in some homes the turkey seems to last forever. This year, why not be a creative cook and plan an innovative recycling job on your leftover foods?

Many homemakers are guilty of using all the leftovers for every meal until everybody in the family is sick of them. Why not try using just one or two leftovers for a meal and plan food purchases to include something "fresh" for each meal? If you are going to serve the turkey for a second dinner, plan a vegetable or salad that did not make an appearance on the holiday groaning board. When recycling the sweet potatoes or squash, serve them with another meat, perhaps ham or sausage. It is amazing how much faster and less painfully leftovers disappear when you use this technique.

If you plan to freeze your leftover turkey, remove the meat from the bones before freezing. Divide the large slices from the small slices and freeze separately. As you pick the small pieces of meat from the turkey bones, separate the pieces into amounts that you can use in one recipe and either freeze the packages immediately or prepare some really special casseroles for your freezer.

For best eating quality, plan to use these leftovers within one month. For longer storage try covering the turkey meat with broth or gravy. Liquid keeps air from getting to the meat and lengthens the storage life to six months. Frozen reheated turkey may not have the delicious taste of first-day turkey, but it certainly is better than eating turkey four or five days in a row.

Dressing or stuffing is one holiday leftover that must be handled with care. It should be removed from the turkey as soon as possible after it comes out of the oven. Never leave a stuffed turkey sit at room temperature. Place any leftover dressing into a covered container and refrigerate. Plan to use it within three days. When preparing it for another meal, reheat just enough for that meal, not all the stuffing you have on hand. Freeze what you cannot use within three days. Cooked dressing will keep three to four weeks in your freezer. It can be reheated without thawing or you can thaw it in your refrigerator but never at room temperature.

Have a safe and happy holiday!

New 4-H Club Forming In Cheltenham Area

Boys and girls ages 8-18 are invited to join the new 4-H Community Club in Cheltenham. The club will meet at the Rowland Community Center on Myrtle Avenue in Cheltenham.

Plans for the next two years include projects in woodworking, ceramics, sewing, cooking and crafts. The group will begin with ceramics. While some leaders have already been recruited, parent volunteers are needed to assist with teaching the projects. You don't have to be an expert in any one field; just a basic background and a willingness to learn and work with kids is necessary. All volunteers are carefully screened and later recognized for their 4-H volunteer experiences.

The first organizational meeting for the club will take place on Tuesday, January 11 at 7 p.m. at Rowland Community Center. Families are invited to attend with prospective members. At least one adult per family must be in attendance. Refreshments will be served and volunteers will be introduced.

There is no cost to join. However, members will need to pay for their own project supplies when the programs begin. If needed, minimal dues may be charged later in the year to help finance special projects or field trips.

For more information, to volunteer, or to register for the club, please call Carol at (215)

Rohrer Family Find Century Farm

Roger said that tobacco is a defensive issue with the health and tax issues that entangle it, and the future of tobacco is unclear.

The additional land is crop farmed by his father and brother.

As a banker, Roger tries to predict trends and protect his own financial future as well. For this reason, he has encouraged Kandy to develop her quilt business.

"Per hour, she can make almost as much as I make raising tobacco," he said.

Kandy said that she made her first quilt when she was 12 years old, but it wasn't until after the couple married and she made their own quilt that she decided to go into the business.

For many years, Roger's mother has operated Maple Lane Farm Bed and Breakfast and his aunt also has a bed and breakfast. These two display Kandy's quilts and so does a local consignment shop. It is through these and by word of mouth that Kandy has been able to sell quilts.

She does only Log Cabin designs in the diamond and in the star pattern.

"My quilt business is a commercial venture and that is to market a nice looking quilt at a reasonable price," she said.

For her, intricate, time consuming patterns are not financially profitable.

She stocks up on quilts during the winter months. In April and May she accumulates a large inventory that is sometimes a bit scary to her since she is not sure if she will be able to sell all of the quilts. But Roger advises her to keep making quilts as fast as she can until the first year that she doesn't sell out. So far, her quilts are all sold by December of each year.

Kandy uses the same sewing machine on which she sewed her first quilt.

"Much of her success in the quilt business stems from her natural ability to match colors," her husband said.

Roger said that after high school, he attended Penn State College of Agriculture but did not graduate from it.

"I was one of those guys who probably should have waited a few years to go to college because I had no objective or specific idea of what I wanted to do with my life," he said.

After Roger quit college, he worked in agricultural building construction for several years.

In 1974, Roger was hired as a field representative trainee for Lancaster Farm Credit Services. That was the job that propelled him to his life's vocation.

He held various positions with Farm Credit, participated in their training program, took night courses at F&M College, and at Corestates Hamilton Bank.

"Being an ag lender is about as close to farming as you can get without actually farming," Roger said.

In 1976, Roger married. That same year, his dad quit raising tobacco to increase his dairy herd. Roger decided to take over the tobacco field, which was one acre at that point.

Kandy, who earned a degree in elementary education, said that she was not from an agricultural background, but from the beginning of their marriage was outside pulling tobacco plants. She said that she had no trouble adjusting to the work, but the hours were another story.

"When I grew up, Saturday was a day off. But on the farm, it is just another work day and sometimes even a bigger one that Monday through Friday."

She did put her foot down one year after Roger had almost single-handedly stripped seven acres of tobacco by himself, which meant he worked every day and Saturday to 10 p.m.

"Something has got to change," Kandy told him. Roger, who by this time, was not enjoying those hours anymore, agreed. He hired a retired farmer to help strip. Now, that the children are older, they are helping more with the stripping.

The biggest obstacle for Kandy is that both the tobacco and quilt business are demanding at the same time — the tourist season. She often needs to rush in from the tobacco fields to dress up so that she can show a prospective customer a quilt. She keeps plenty of sample material on hand so that customers can choose their own patterns but will also assist customers in selecting their own fabrics from a store.

Gardening, canning, and freezing are all ways in which the family works together to maintain what Roger said he was taught — be as thrifty as you can and work hard.

Other thriftiness is evident by having venison as the family's main staple and by heating the house with firewood from woodland on the property.

The oldest son Todd, who is 12, is in FFA and the only boy in the class who is from the farm. He recently shot a 6-point buck and much prefers spending time hunting on the farm rather than participating in sports at the school. His siblings, Mark, 11, and Ashlee, 7, share his love for the outdoors.

"Give a boy a farm with both free time and work time and it's the best environment for him to grow up," said Roger. The highlight of Roger's life, he said, was to see his

(Turn to Page B17)

This is Roger's trophy room where he relaxes between farming and banking responsibilities. His 12-year-old son Todd, who shot a buck on the first day of hunting season, is eager to contribute his share to the trophy display.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

Build Family Traditions

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Holidays, especially Christmas, mean family traditions. Even though the holiday traditions in your family may not resemble a Norman Rockwell painting, traditions serve an important purpose in every family. As one college student said it, "A tradition is something that strengthens ties in the family. All family members look forward to it, all participate, and all enjoy doing it. Everyone misses it if something comes up and it is not done."

Traditions are not limited to holidays. A family tradition can be anything that occurs with some regularity and holds special meaning for a family. It can be as simple as reading bedtime stories or as elaborate as an annual trip across country to grandma's house. The existence of family traditions can help make a family feel special and unique. Because the meanings of these occasions and activities are usually understood and enjoyed by the family alone, they can create feelings of closeness and shared meanings. Traditions provide stability and continuity in a changing world.

Traditions should be enjoyable and bring family members together. Sometimes, however, a tradition outlives its usefulness or evokes resentment, boredom, discomfort or indifference. Children may outgrow long family camping trips or Sunday afternoons at certain relatives' homes. If such is the case, it may be time to retire the tradition. New traditions can be developed by your family that fit with your lifestyle and values. Here are some possibilities for new traditions in your family.

- Having a bedtime routine
- Eating waffles every Sunday or leftovers every Wednesday
- Using a special chair or plate on birthdays or other important occasions
- Making your own birthday or Christmas cards
- Dying Easter eggs on Good Friday night
- Getting each child an ornament at Christmas
- Pretending to avoid Mom's goodnight kiss
- Children taking turns staying up late with parents
- Practically anything!

Traditions are important in every kind of family. One woman, widowed with a two-year-old daughter, realized the importance of traditions in her small family.

"Even with just my daughter and me, we established rituals in our lifestyle. We loved them and looked forward to living them together."

Traditions are especially important when a family is experiencing changes and traditions. Changes in jobs, moving to a new place, changes in marital status, or the birth of a new baby all disrupt family routines. Because of the sense of stability that traditions give, it is important to maintain some of them when we move into new family situations. Families adjust more easily to the stress of a new situation when they continue observing traditions as soon as possible.

Christmas is an opportunity for the Rohrer family to take a break from business and farming responsibilities and enjoy family and friends.

Rohrer Family

son shoot a buck on the first day of hunting season. Roger has a trophy room in the basement complete with a full-bear, fox, pheasant, and numerous other mounts.

As a banker, Roger said that he believes it is important for families to keep withdrawals for recreation at a modest level.

"The best time for farm families to make a substantial commitment to farming is in their 20s and 30s, not older. That is when their energy is higher and withdrawals can be less. When the kids get older, it takes more money for extras."

On the other end of the spectrum are families who need some diversion to get a break from farming and who don't take it. "Both extremes limit the success of the operation," he said.

When setting up a budget, Roger counsels the family to discipline farm withdrawals or their debt service will be greatly affected.

"I really appreciate the agricultural strengths in south central Pennsylvania," he said. "I'm confident this area will be able to compete long term because of the high calibre of people."

"Economically Lancaster County is a great place to live," Roger said. "It's the place to take advantage of all the opportunities to make your dreams come true."

He explained that Lancaster County is known to be prosperous in the tourist, farm, and commercial areas and from these three areas the Rohrs have also prospered.

Tourists are what have made Kandy's quilt business, the ag lending relates to the commercial area, and farming to their tobacco business.

"It is a benefit that I was born and raised in the county and have a career. I can't say enough about the strength of agriculture and I'm proud to be associated with it," he said.

Roger said, "Although I did not start out with any particular goal in mind as I was exposed to different opportunities, a dream evolved. It became my dream to own a farm, live on it with my family, and have an ag lending career." That dream is now a reality and one with which Roger is still a bit awed.

He said, "Christmas is a celebration of Christ's birth and also a time to enjoy family and friends. The season makes me realize how grateful I am to have the opportunity to live on this farm with my family and do the things I love."

Nothing Runs Like a Deere

Make Family And Friends Priority During Holidays

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Many of us splurge at Christmas, not just on gifts but on parties, decorations, cards and food. The result is not only empty pockets but often exhaustion, stress and frustration, says a family resource education specialist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"We need to reevaluate what the Christmas holidays mean to us," says Dr. Marilyn Furry, assistant professor of agricultural and extension education. "The holidays should be a relaxing time to spend with family — something children need as much as adults do."

"Children want attention from parents who are busy trying to buy gifts, clean the house and decorate the tree," says Furry. "But parents often are at parties or gatherings with friends, and the children end up spending time with a babysitter or with tired, harried parents."

Too often holiday responsibilities aren't shared by the entire family. "Buying and wrapping gifts, decorating the home, baking cookies and mailing cards often is done solely by the mother," says Furry. "Then, if the family doesn't have the Christmas they would like, the mother feels guilty."

Furry points out that families need to sit down together and set priorities for holiday activities. Some of these suggestions are too late to do this year, but try it next year. "Complete only as many things as you can do comfortably," she says. "Ask yourself, 'Do I really need to mail all those cards or bake three extra batches of cookies?' Congratulate yourself on what you've accomplished rather than agonizing about what you haven't done. To spend more time together, you can refuse social invitations after a certain date, such as December 15, unless they include the whole family."

Families also need to set realistic expectations about gifts. "Ask yourself if you really need to buy gifts for everyone," says Furry. "Perhaps you could draw names with friends and relatives. Set a price limit for gifts and have everyone agree in advance."

"Buy gifts that will last or that can be recycled or repaired. Use your creativity to make gifts — capitalize on talents such as baking, jelly making, weaving, sewing or wreath making. Give a coupon book of favors to be redeemed throughout the year, or make a donation in a loved one's name to a charity or church group."

Furry says that families also need strong holiday traditions to stabilize the unsettling holiday season. "Do some of the same things each year so that the children can say 'When do we make the wreath?' or 'When can we decorate the tree?'" says Furry.

"Discuss with your family the traditions that they enjoy the most. They can be simple things the family does together such as decorating the tree, opening cards together, taking a walk in the woods or calling friends. Include activities not centered around giving gifts."

Furry also emphasizes an even-paced holiday season. "From Thanksgiving on, and sometimes even earlier, the holidays receive a huge buildup," she says. "Then on December 26, the activities drop dramatically. Everyone feels let down and the children are left surrounded by a stack of gifts, wondering what to do next."

"Instead, wind down the holiday season gradually. Have some of those get-togethers after the holidays. The tree and other decorations don't have to come down the day after Christmas."

Dairy Tidbits

To soften (or bring to room temperature) other types of cheese, remove wrapper and place on microwave-safe plate. Microwave at 30 percent power until cheese reaches desired softness and/or temperature. Check every 10 seconds to prevent overheating.

According to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), in 1988, milk and other dairy foods (excluding butter) provided 75 percent of the calcium and 35 percent of the riboflavin (vitamin B₂) available in the U.S. food supply.

Once cream is whipped, it may be stored tightly covered in the freezer for up to three months. After thawing, it may lose some of its volume and thickness.

Peanut Butter Pleaser

1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
1/2 cup honey
4 cups milk

Beat together peanut butter and honey in a blender or with an electric mixer. Gradually add milk. Chill. Stir before serving. Yield: 5 cups.

VARIATIONS:

Maple: Substitute 1/2 cup pure maple syrup for honey.
Chocolate: Reduce honey to 3 tablespoons and add 1/2 cup chocolate syrup with honey.

Monroe County Recognize 4-H's

Members and leaders of the Monroe County 4-H Club, the R & R Rabbit Club, attended the Monroe County Commissioners meeting recently at the Courthouse in Stroudsburg.

The youth members and adult leaders of the 4-H club were recognized for the hard work they have put forth in presenting the R & R Rabbit Club show, parade, and auction, held annually in September. This year marked the 5th year the 4-H club has sponsored this community event.

The 10 youth members presented with certificates from Monroe County Commissioners Janet Weidensaul, Robert Moore, and James Cadue were Kathy Dorpfeld, Michael Dorshimer, Mary Jane Kizakavich, Drew Norman, Heather Rhodes, Jasalynn Rhodes, John Smith, Sara Smith, Stefanie Sullivan, and Melissa Taran. The commissioners also presented certificates to Adele Argot, the 4-H Club organizational leader, and to the club coleaders Ryan Argot, Winnie Dorpfeld, the Carol Taran.

Members of the R & R Rabbit Club (Sara Smith, club president; Mary Jane Kizakavich, club secretary; and Drew Norman, club treasurer) presented certificates to the three County Commissioners for their support of 4-H. Two of the three Commissioners, Janet Weidensaul and James Cadue, marched in the R & R Parade in September, in response to an invitation sent to them by the 4-H Club youth members.

After observing the commissioners' meeting, which was conducted with the same parliamentary procedure which they have learned and utilize in their 4-H Club meetings, the 4-H club members, leaders, and the county 4-H agent Donna Brown were given an educational tour of the Monroe County Courthouse, administered by Pat Eveland, coordinator of litter control for Monroe County.

It was on to the jury assembly room, where the county dispatcher, Rich Nadeau, of the Monroe County Control Center, explained some of the functions of his office, expressing the importance of knowing your location in case of an emergency, and the ease that 911 will provide as a contact number for the county, instead of the various current seven-digit numbers. He then led the group into the Control Center, where they witnessed emergency information being received and emergency assistance being dispatched.

Christmas Thoughts

*Let us keep Christmas, its meaning never ends
...the time of year to wish happiness and good will to friends and loved ones, near and far...the time to share the joys of the past and the hopes of the future, and to remember all we have to be thankful for. If we can do this for a day, why not forever?
Let us keep the true spirit of Christmas. Today, tomorrow and always.*

Merry Christmas

EXERCISE IMPROVES BONE STRENGTH

Dr. Carol V. Gay
Professor of Molecular and Cell Biology and Poultry Science

Strong, healthy skeletons are essential to the egg-laying process.

This is because the skeleton provides the nighttime reserve of calcium for the eggshell after ingested calcium has been absorbed from the digestive tract. It is estimated that 30-40 percent of the eggshell comes from calcium stored in the bones. During a 70-week laying period, a single hen will utilize about 1 1/4 pounds of calcium, an amount roughly equivalent to the entire mass of its skeleton.

While constant replacement of calcium to the skeleton occurs, the replacement process is not perfect — an incremental loss of bone takes place that eventually results in weakened bones. The resulting condition is known as "cage layer fatigue."

Even though good management practice will have provided the hens with a high density source of calcium, such as oyster shell and various limestone sources, by the end of its efficient laying period, the hen will have a substantially weakened skeleton. This creates a problem at the processing plant. A 1989 study in Britain found that nearly a third of spent layers had broken bones by the time they reached the scalding tanks and most had incurred fractures at the end of the evisceration line.

Maintaining strong bones is a complex challenge. Numerous factors are involved. A place to begin would be to select genetic strains that have thick bones. The premise is simple: thicker bones have more calcium to lose.

Nutrition is an important factor to consider. This is a complicated issue and many factors are involved, but especially important are intake levels of calcium, phosphate, and vitamin D. The hormone status of the hen is an important consideration, but difficult to manipulate.

Also high on the list of important relevant factors is exercise. Bone responds remarkably to exercise. Both bone mass and bone strength increase as a result of regular exercise. We have some understanding of why this is so. Passing within bone is a system of tiny pipes, called canaliculi. When an individual moves, intermittent compressive forces are applied to the bones. Fluid in the canaliculi surges down the direction of the force and into all fluid spaces in the bone. Cells within bone are in contact with this fluid.

Cells within bone respond to intermittent compressive force by forming more bone. Specifically, bone cells synthesize and secrete proteins that calcify. The cells detect the application of mechanical forces through unique molecules on the cell surfaces that respond to being stretched, or perturbed when the fluid in bone flows over the cell. When stimulated, the force-detecting surface molecules react by changing shape. The molecule in its new shape can interact with a second, different molecule. The two molecules now fit together, much like two pieces of a jigsaw puzzle and, together, trigger a series of chemical reactions that results in stimulating the bone cell to synthesize and secrete protein.

It is well established that exercise stimulates bone formation in humans. For birds, fewer studies have been made, but it is known that broilers and laying hens raised in floor pens have stronger bones than those reared in cages. Exactly how much exercise is required for strengthening bones in hens is not known. Based on the available data for mammals, a means of exercising caged hens is likely to be of considerable value provided that a practical system could be devised.

Financial Workshop Set

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN (Schuylkill Co.) — All interested in farm financial management are invited to attend a series of three evening meetings on "Farm Financial Management."

Husbands and wives and/or business partners are encouraged to attend as management teams. The meetings will be held on January 6, 13 and 27, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The meetings will be held at the Penn State Schuylkill Campus Conference Center, Schuylkill Haven. The sessions are presented by Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension.

J. Allan Shoener, extension agent, agriculture, will be speaking on the following topics: farm business plans, financial management tools (balance sheets, cash-flow statements, partial budgets, financial statements), and enterprise budgets.

The program is designed to be a practical hands-on workshop to aid in managing your farming operation. The discussions will cover the steps needed to plan a farm operation, understanding and using financial management tools, and developing and using enterprise budgets. The program will build on previous farm financial management clinics and will involve class and homework assignments. Ample time will be allowed for discussions, questions, and answers.

Advance registration is required (no fee). Registration is due by January 3. To register or for more information on the workshop, contact the Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension office, P.O. Box 250, Schuylkill Haven, PA 17972-0250, (717) 385-3431.

Pedometer Aids Heat Detection

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. — The Westfalia Pedometer is an aid in heat detection. The Pedometer works both as an identification responder and activity monitor counter.

Most cows, when coming in heat (estrus), have significant increase in activity. Cows should be inseminated approximately 18 hours after the onset of standing heat. The Westfalia Pedometer automatically records each cow's activity. This data is then transferred automatically to Dairy Plan every time she enters the parlor.

Many cows also have a measurable drop in milk production during estrus. The Westfalia Metatron will also automatically send her milk yield to Dairy Plan. If her activity file shows a significant increase and her milk production is below expected, she is automatically listed on a report alerting the dairyman that she may be in heat.

When the Pedometer is used in conjunction with production information from the Metatron milk meter, and Dairy Plan Management software, activity monitoring becomes a powerful aid in heat detection.

The Pedometer, attached to the cow's front leg, is treated as a normal identification responder. It identifies her for feeding, weighing, sorting, and milk metering. It also records her activity and sends this movement information to Dairy Plan for management evaluation.

Agri-King To Sponsor Financial Seminar

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Agri-King and Fulton Bank, Lancaster, will host "Farming in the Nineties," a financial seminar on January 13 at the Harvest Drive Restaurant, Intercourse, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

A family style meal will be served and featured speakers will include Russell Albright, Keystone Farm Credit; John Moose, Fulton Bank, Lancaster; and Mike Smoker, Smoker and Landis Accounting Firm.

Albright is a senior loan officer with Keystone Farm Credit, ACA, Avondale, servicing the credit needs of farmers and members in northern Chester County. He was raised in Chester County and was graduated from Delaware Valley College with a degree in animal husbandry. Albright is in his twenty-fourth year with the Farm Credit System and in 1980 was presented with the Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore's Distinguished Service Award. He will be speaking on what production credit looks for when loaning money to farmers for equipment and supplies.

Moose is vice president, agricultural loan officer with Fulton Bank, Lancaster. He was raised on a dairy farm in Mercer County in western Pennsylvania and was graduated from Indiana University of Pennsylvania with a degree in business management. Moose is an active member of the agriculture committee of the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry and Agricultural Issues Forum. He will be speaking on what the banking industry is looking for as far as loaning money to farmers.

Smoker is a partner of Smoker and Landis Certified Public Accountants, Leola, as well as a partner at Smoker and Guard Attorneys at Law, Leola. He received a business administration degree from Drexel University, Philadelphia, and a juris doctorate degree from the Villanova School of Law, Villanova. Smoker is a member of the Lancaster County Bar Association, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the American Bar Association, and the American Association of Attorney Certified Public Accountants. He will be speaking on tax laws concerning farming, investment credit, and depreciations.

There will be time for questions and answers. Seminar fee of $10 includes meal. For more information, contact Gene Martin, Agri-King Warehouse, (717) 392-7792.

Rural Appraiser Receives Top Designation

DENVER, Colo. — Stephen E. Bolt, senior appraiser with Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, in Wellsboro, received the accredited rural appraiser (ARA) designation from the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers at the Society's annual meeting in Greensboro, N.C.

Bolt earned his ARA designation by meeting stringent requirements in experience and educational background, in addition to passing rigorous oral and written examinations and abiding by the American Society's code of ethics. He joins a select 26 percent of the ASFMRA membership who have received, and currently maintain, the accredited status.

New President Of United Ag

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. — James G. Patsos has been elected to the position of president/CEO of United Ag Services.

Patsos, one of the founders of the cooperative and its former president, has served as CEO for the past four years. E.D. Anna recently resigned as president.

United Ag Services, formerly United Dairy Services, recently changed its name in order to better reflect the diversity of its operations. United Ag Services provides a variety of services to small-to-medium size agricultural businesses and organizations.

Patsos, from Waterloo, N.Y., operates a dairy farm in partnership with his son, James, Jr. with a herd of 150 Ayrshire cattle.

Changes In Management At Pennfield

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Mike Horn, executive vice president and chief operating officer of Pennfield Corporation, has announced the following management changes.

John Chapman, swine service specialist, has been appointed manager of integrated pork production. In his new position, Chapman is responsible for managing all integrated pork production activities, including design of new facilities, implementation of contracts, and marketing of live pork.

Chapman joined Pennfield in 1987 and has been involved with pork production and accounting. He will report to Mike Horn, chief operating officer.

Lynn Helsel, administrative assistant to the corporate fleet manager, has been promoted to corporate transportation compliance specialist with responsibility for developing, administering, and assuring compliance with all transportation policies, procedures, laws, and regulations. Helsel, who joined Pennfield in 1984, reports to Randall Adams, vice president, feed operations.

Farrowing Crate Reduces Crushing Death

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Tri-County Confinement Systems has developed a Dutch-style farrowing crate that uses a gravity flip-rail to force the sow to lie down slowly and give piglets plenty of time to avoid being crushed.

The Flip-rail moves up and out of the way after the sow has gradually shifted her weight to the side. This device works smoothly with no hydraulics and few moving parts. It adjusts easily to fit sows of different sizes.

Tri-County's Dutch-style farrowing crate is constructed of solid steel rod with no sharp edges. The back gate is a stainless steel panel. Attached to it are rump rails, which swing out of the way when the gate opens. A solid steel arch holds the front gate, using drop rods instead of hinge pins. Included with the crate is a round-bottom stainless steel feeder that reduces feed waste by having no unreachable corners and that can be removed for cleaning without removing the front gate. The crate is easy to assemble with just a few bolts, and can be installed on an angle.

Brubaker Passes Crop Adviser Program

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Michael W. Brubaker, president and owner of Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service, Inc., recently passed the Pennsylvania Certified Crop Advisor (CCA) state and national exams in order to earn the title of certified crop advisor.

The national CCA exam covered four main topics: soils and soil fertility, soil and water management, plant growth and development, and pest management (weeds, insects, and diseases).

Certification is a standard of excellence used in many professions. The CCA program is designed to establish base standards for individuals who advise growers on crop management and production inputs. At this point, the CCA program is a voluntary effort.

Best Values in New Equipment

MAXXUM

Three years ago, Case International MAXXUM® set new standards for mid-size tractors. With the introduction of the 5200 Series, those standards have been raised even higher.

You wanted more visibility; we added exclusive all-glass doors. You asked for easier implement attachment; we responded with ground-level hitch control. You wanted more muscle; and we increased horsepower and durability.

Leadership never stands still, and the MAXXUM 5200 Series is still the best in the business.

5220 MAXXUM

- 80 PTO Horsepower
- Multi-disc Wet Clutch
- 16F/12R Fully Synchronized Transmission with Forward/Reverse Shuttle Shift
- Optional 16F/12R Powershift
- 7,700 Pound Hitch Capacity
- PFC Hydraulics
- 8F/8R Creeper Option

Committee Has Applications For Beef Expo Junior Show, Scholarships

PORT MATILDA (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Beef Expo Committee has applications available for the 1994 Pennsylvania Junior Cattleman's Association Beef Expo Preview shows.

The junior show will be held on Sunday, April 10, with heifers shown at 9 a.m. and the steer show beginning at 10 a.m. Junior cattle should arrive the afternoon of Saturday, April 9. The 1994 Beef Expo will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 8-10 at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg.

This will be the Fourth annual Steer and Heifer Preview Show sponsored by the Pennsylvania Cattleman's Association. This youth event has become increasingly more popular with Pennsylvania junior cattlemen. Heifer classes will be available for heifers born between April 1, 1992 and October 1, 1993. Heifers will be shown by breeds. There will also be a class for crossbred breeding heifers.

The junior steer show is scheduled for 10 a.m., Sunday, April 10, with six, nine or 12 weight classes, depending on the number of entries. Steers will be weighed in between 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 9.

Entry forms can be obtained from Sue Clair, 568 Rock Rd., State College, PA 16801, (814) 238-1233. Complete materials regarding the 1994 Beef Exposition, including all of the information and forms of the junior preview shows, will be available at the Pennsylvania Cattleman's Association exhibit in the Beef Barn at the 1994 Pennsylvania Farm Show, Harrisburg, January 3-13.

There will be several other special youth activities beginning at 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 9 and continuing through the next day. These activities will include an obstacle course, a Skillathon, and several other educational and skill requiring events. Entries for contestants in the junior activities will be available on an individual and team basis. Cash awards will be given for both the junior preview shows as well as the junior team and individual events.

Applications and more information about Beef Skillathon can be obtained from the Pennsylvania Cattleman's Association, R.D.#1, Box 83, Port Matilda, PA 16870, (814) 692-4208; Sue Clair, 568 Rock Rd., State College, PA 16801, (814) 238-1233; or from Tammy Balthaser, Pennsylvania Beef Council, 4714 Orchard St., Harrisburg, PA (800) 572-2020.

14 Gallon

MODEL 3009
9 Gallon

— CAN SEND BOTH U.P.S. —

(Also 2-Hole 40 Gal. Available)

Proven to Work - Since 1984

- After marketing for 6 years our customers tell us it's still the best and unique drinker you can buy today.
- Units have non-siphoning all plastic 1/2" water valve
- Units have 1/2" PVC shut off-and-on ball valve right behind water valve
- Drinker lid is designed w/no grooves on top that can encourage bacteria-germs that could seep inside unit.
- The Poly-Drinkers are high density urethane foam insulated with drain plugs. Model #3009 has proven to work outside in our area with minimum - 2 horses - and maximum -50 head beef.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

SELLING JANUARY 8, 1994, 10:00 A.M... PA FARM SHOW SALE

9 Duroc bred gilts 3 Hampshire bred gilts due in late Jan., Feb., early March.

We bred and showed 1993 KILE Grand Champion Duroc and Hampshire gilts

She is selling bred to THE RIGHT ONE due Jan. 23, 1994

She or littermate is selling bred to SDH2 JOLLY 96-4 due Feb. 12, 1994

Duroc gilts bred to HP THE RIGHT ONE son of HP3 Uh Huh 28-3 with figures of 144 days, 61B.F., 6.30L.E. at 230#. He is extra long, lean, growthy, big framed boar with muscle, and heavy correct bone and feet, from top litter of Parrish herd.

Hampshire gilts bred to SDH2 JOLLY 96.4 figures Of 163 days, .49B.F., 6.52L.E. at 230# sired by CC8 Jolly 16-4. He sired 1993 Res. Champion market hog and class winners at Indiana Co. Fair. He sires extremely lean, heavy muscled, long, wide hamed, fat free Hamps.
He is siring the winning productive kind!

Some bred to MSM3 JACK 18-1 from Matthew Moorehouse, New Paris, Indiana. He definitely is fat free, with heavy correct muscle design, is wide made from front to rear, yet free moving and the most aggressive Hampshire boar we ever used. He will sire Hampshires that are productive and win market shows.

PRV free here #41 Validated #80 They have 30 day blood test for

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- ◆ Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels.
- ◆ Improved energy density of your rations.
- ◆ Excellent quality control.
- ◆ Exchange programs with feed mills.
- ◆ Economical storage, rolling and grinding available.
- ◆ We also buy corn and soybeans

EBY ALUMINUM FLATBEDS: WE MAKE HARD WORK LOOK GOOD

On the farm or in the city, Eby aluminum flatbed bodies are built for your toughest hauling jobs. Their all-welded construction features 3" aluminum I-beam crossmembers (4" I-beams on bodies 16' and longer) on 12" centers, heavy side rub rail and aluminum diamond floor plate. A full list of options includes slated or solid aluminum sides, tool boxes and tire carrier.

Eby aluminum construction is up to 40% lighter than steel, so you get more payload capacity. The corrosion-resistant aluminum never needs painting and requires minimum maintenance but gives you maximum resale value. That's a winning combination to complement any truck.

In standard lengths to 32 feet and 5 widths from 78 to 102 inches, there's an Eby aluminum flatbed that's matched to your requirements. With Eby value and quality, hard work can look good.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel an multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, 'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.'

The Secret To A Level
Field Is The Sunflower
GAUGE WHEELS

A trademark on all FLEXIBLE Sunflower Discs is Front-Mounted Gauge Wheels. This Important Feature Prevents the Front Gangs Of The Wing Frame From Gouging, Buckling or Cutting Deeper Than The Other Gangs, Promoting A Level Ridge Or Furrow-Free Field. The Heavy Duty Gauge Wheel Features A 5-Bolt Hub And 8.00x10 Ply Tire & Tube.

DOUBLE OFFSET DESIGN

Eliminates center ridging while cutting the entire width at an even depth. Self-leveling hitch provides fore & aft leveling at any working depth.

MAGNUM

ENCORE PERFORMANCE.

Comes from Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. In Stock For Delivery, Yet This Month For A Super Year End Deal!

INTRODUCING THE 7240 MAGNUM.

You appreciated the original MAGNUM™ line for what it gave you ... more reliability, durability and performance.

Now you deserve an even higher standard of agricultural power: the new 7200 Series MAGNUM line. With a choice of five tractors, including the big 7240 with 195 PTO hp.

Here are a few of the highlights:

- A high-technology Case 8.3 L 505 cu. in. engine that provides more fuel-efficient power.

- A standard 18-speed powershift transmission that combines the right speeds with even more control.
- Up to 11% tighter turning capability.
- Operator comfort, instrumentation and visibility that's better than ever before.

Stop by today and see the new 7200 Series MAGNUM tractor line ... the fitting encore to the quality standard set seven years ago.

There's nothing more important to a crop than early, even emergence. To get it, you need accurate, even seeding.

The 5300 has earned a reputation for its seeding precision, a function of its exclusive feed cup design and dependable disk openers. And, to improve placement of seed, the opener drawbars are heavier than on previous models. Press wheel and opener bearings are heavier for long life operation.

Along with accuracy, the 5300 gives you fast, high capacity seeding, so you spend less time refilling hoppers.

Model 1680 PIT PAL®

AGITATES — PIT PAL's heavy duty pump has the power to agitate a pit, mixing those heavy bottom solids into a pumpable slurry.

CHOPS — PIT PAL'S unique intake-port design provides constant chopping action — up to 5,000 'shearing action' cuts per minute. This cutting action guarantees that straw and fibrous material will be chopped into a pumpable form.

PUMPS — PIT PAL'S handy gate valve permits agitating and/or pumping of 'under-barn' or outdoor manure pits. PIT PAL is portable, giving you the flexibility to use it in many locations.

LOADS — Load your slurry wagon by combining your PIT PAL to force feed a vacuum tank or over the top with a load stand

PRIMES — PIT PAL will operate as a priming system for your high pressure irrigation pump

Dynashift™ delivers the features you asked for.

What farmers like you told us
you want in a powershift transmission.

"Smooth shifts"	The transmission has to shift as smoothly as you can manually shift, without the jerks that can damage implements
"Fuel efficiency"	Deliver more engine power to the wheels and PTO
"Reverse shuttle shifting"	Make synchronized shifts from forward to reverse
"Better speed selection"	The next powershift gear should never be more than 17% faster or slower
"Low cost"	Make the benefits of powershifting more affordable to buy and maintain

HYDRA-SPREAD

HYDRAULIC PUSH-OFF MANURE SPREADER

Single or two beater designs. Aggressive, high-speed beaters - with up to 15 paddles per beater - deliver a fine uniform spread. Replaceable bolted paddles on main beater

Snug-fitting end-gate controls sloppy or granular manure.

Polyethylene sides and bottom containing 90% re-cycled material. Guaranteed for the life of the spreader.

Simple and reliable single-stage push gate for dependable, trouble-free unloading. Centre-guided design eliminates jam-ups

Optional slurry pan prevents spills. Controls sloppy or fine materials for even finer more uniform spreading.

Precision metering valve for infinitely variable unloading from 0 - 8 tpm

Simple, dependable power train. Every shaft (even the upper beater) is splined for efficient power transmission and long life.

Fully shielded PTO with overload protection

Truck type or flotation tires to suit your needs.

Clean design. No obstructions to hold manure.

Driveline and gearbox are safely contained within the frame - under the floor. Easily serviced and repaired

Hydraulic cylinders are installed above the floor. Always accessible - always easy to clean and service

THE CLAAS HARVESTER

MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from maize it is vital to crack every kernel. Digestion of uncracked maize falls as the maize becomes drier. Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective. From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles. The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel. It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable. The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically. Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop.

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

The New ROTOCUT SILAGE BALER

Cuts Your Crop As It Is Forced Through A Series Of Knives.

The Benefits:

- Even higher bale density
- Easier distribution of bale contents

Hard to feed crops are aggressively fed right into this baler. Now you can cut and bale rye, barley and oats at boot stage. Bales fall apart - you can throw them down a hay hole and feed them with a fork.

MASSEY FERGUSON

COMBINING SLOPES — THE MF 3-D CLEANING SYSTEM

Normal cleaning across slopes

3-D in operation

With the MF 3-D system you can operate at the same speed on slopes as on flat land. Daily performance can be maintained.

The 3-D cleaning system provides dynamic slope compensation which means that the upper sieve moves sideways against the slope of the hill. The degree and direction of these movements depend on the inclination of the slope. Quick reaction and of course equal performance in any direction on slopes of up to 20%.

With the MF-3-D cleaning system, the crop is distributed evenly across the full width of the sieves, performance remains stable and output maintained.

For The Way You Farm Today Fingertip Powershift Control, Improved Field Visibility and The Most Comfortable Cab Ever

Model 9650
147 PTO HP (109.7 kW)

With their new 18x9 speed full powershift transmissions that electronically control the engagement of massive gears with just the tap of a hand... their cab-forward design that permits a clear, unobstructed view of the field in all directions... and their roomy, comfortable cabs, that feature a unique swivel, air-ride seat and an exclusive seat-mounted control console, the new 9600 Series tractors are clearly ahead of the time.

Every component — from the sleek, sloping hood, to the rugged, cast-iron mainframe to the world-proven air-cooled diesel engines, that require less maintenance — has been designed to match the way you farm today. The result is greater comfort, better performance and improved productivity.

Compare the features and specifications for yourself. Better yet, stop by your AGCO Allis dealer soon and try out one of the 9600 models for yourself. You have to drive it to believe it.

To Our Valued Customers and Friends,

Thank you for the opportunity to serve you. You are the people who use the most important machinery in the world. You plant and raise our crops, you tend the livestock, and milk the cows. You are the reason this country has such an abundant and high quality food supply. You make our lives easier and you provide opportunities for so many.

Words alone are such a small way of showing our appreciation for allowing us to serve you the past ten years.

Today's Engine Technology For Yesterday's Engines

Get everything you need to rebuild your John Deere engine...and it's all here, in one box. No other kit offers this unique combination—at any price! Here's what you get:

- Ready-to-install factory-assembled power cylinders
- Hardened cylinder liners that resist cavitation
- Viton® liner seals outlast ordinary seals
- Teflon® surfaced rear seals incorporate dust excluders
- Factory-new power—possibly better than new performance

AS LOW AS $675⁰⁰

FOR JOHN DEERE (part # AT86984, fits JD 2030, 1440, etc. utility tractors)
Ask about our installation price. If we install the kit, the warranty covers both parts AND labor.

YOU JUST CAN'T MATCH OUR MIX

NEW

TMR Ruffage Master

These new Oswalt® four auger Model 200/250 mixers are designed to process and mix all feeds, including baled hay, into a fully-blended TMR...better than anyone!

The aggressive, notched, 20"-diameter, full-pitch, four auger mixing pattern, dual shear shelf design and exclusive, self-lubricating Tuff-Glide® liners help feed materials flow more freely, reducing horsepower requirements and virtually eliminating material hang-ups and dead spots.

PLAN NOW FOR 1994!

When Planning Your Forage Programs, Remember That Your Main Objective Is To Store The Plant And Remove It From Storage In As Good Condition As Possible. The Upright Silo Has Never Been Equalled In Its Ability To Do This.

On Most Dairy Farms, Forage Quality Is The Single Most Important Factor Relating To Profit.

Poured Concrete Silos Consistently Out-Perform All Other Methods Of Storing And Preserving The Total Digestible Nutrients In Forage Crops.

"Nobody Protects Forage Quality Like We Do...Nobody!"

No Used Silos!
No Rebuilt Silos!
No Preowned Silos!
"All New For You!!"
